Kennedy Memorial Library Burned by Student Rioters

BY GEORGE MCARTHUR
CAIRO (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Lucius Battle today made a strong protest to the Egyptian government against the burning of the John F. Kennedy library, only eight books were saved of 20,000 originally on the shelves.

Mostly Africans

The crowd numbering several hundred was overwhelmingly made up of African students, said embassy personnel. Other witnesses reported that some Egyptians were in the crowd.

Cairo papers said the crowd was made up solely of Congolese students.

The library, dedicated only a few days ago, was still smoldering this morning more than 12 hours after the students stormed over an iron rail fence to get into the compound, which houses half a dozen buildings.

The demonstrators also destroyed 10 automobiles.

No injuries were reported, however, and the main building housing the ambassador's office because prompt police action

John Cayo, 26, Dies in Flames Of Small House

Authorities Trying to Determine Cause of Early Morning Fire

A foot-by-foot inspection of a small frame house on Appleton's south side began about 9:30 a.m. today to determine cause of a fire which caused the death of the dwelling's lone occupant.

The victim of flames which completely engulfed the house at 237 E. Murray St., was John Cayo, 26, who, neighbors said, had been living alone in the home for about one year.

Cayo's charred body was found by firemen about 2:30 a.m. after flames had been extinguished sufficiently enough to allow them to enter the house. The body was found face down about two feet from a bedroom window. Debris from the ceiling and walls partially covered the body.

Identification Tags

Identification was made by a brother, Robert, of Neenah, and from Army identification tags on the body.

A passing motorist, Robert Cavert, 1016 S. Walden Ave., saw the house ablaze about 2 a.m. He stopped his car and sent a friend to arouse neighbors and summon the fire department. Cavert attempted to enter the building by smashing in a rear door, but was driven back by flames.

Firemen from stations on N. Oneida and S. Lave streets said flames lit up the sky and could be seen for a half-mile.

Investigators today are attempting to determine if an oil space heater in the small living room exploded, sending flames up the wallboard interior to the ceiling.

Flames in the living room had licked through the ceiling and the entire west wall of the house was aflame when firemen arrived.

Craft Cut In Half by Israeli Ship

BY FRANCIS STU-LEY
NEW YORK (AP) — Nineteen crewmen of a Norwegian tanker are dead or missing from a Thanksgiving Day tragedy in which their vessel was sliced in two by an Israeli luxury liner heading out on a carefree Caribbean cruise.

The collision occurred 18 miles off the New Jersey Coast shortly after 2 a.m. Thursday in dense fog.

The stern quarter of the tanker sank in the pall of darkness and fog. Water poured into the liner's bow compartments, which were sealed off.

An air-sea rescue operation was quickly put in motion.

Clad variously in nightdress or ballroom attire, many of the cruise liner's 616 passengers raised to decks to watch through the mist.

Some Suffer Shock

Eventually, 24 of the tanker's 43-member crew were snatched from the seas, from swamped lifeboats and from the barely floating forward section of the vessel. Among them were a stewardess — the lone woman aboard — and the tanker's captain.

Some of the men saved from the sea were only partially clad. They were oil-smeared, blue with cold and in some cases insensible from shock.

As time wore on through a gray dawn, the Atlantic yielded 13 bodies. A massive daylong search of the area finally was called off at sundown without any trace of six men still missing.

The vessels involved were the $20-million liner Shalom, pride of the Israeli merchant fleet and its seven-months-old flagship, and the 12,723-ton Norwegian tanker Stolt Dagali.

Kenyatta Asks Unity in Congo

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta today called for "efforts at reconciliation" between Premier Moise Tshombe's Congo government and the rebels.

Opening a commission meeting of the Organization of African Unity on the Congo problem, Kenyatta conceded he had no knowledge whether the eastern Congo rebels "still exist as a coherent force."

In a surprisingly mild statement, Kenyatta said the commission was at a loss in dealing with the problem at this stage. He suggested that perhaps a new mandate with broader powers should be given the 10-power commission by the parent organization group of independent African states.

Stanleyville Rebel Snipers Still Active

Government Troops Move Across River to Hunt Reds

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Snipers' bullets still whistled through Stanleyville today as government troops pushed across the Congo River after the main rebel force.

"Stanleyville is under control, but all resistance has not been eliminated," said an American Embassy spokesman.

Rumors Heard of Peron's Return

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Speculation that former Argentine President Juan D. Peron soon will attempt his promised return home was heightened today by a letter Peron wrote to the head of Gen. Francisco Franco's military household.

Jose Manuel Alagarbe, Peron's private secretary, said the ex-dictator wrote Lt. Gen. Jose Samanigo y Gomez de Bonilla expressing "his appreciation for attentions given to him during his stay in Spain."

Alagarbe said he was sure Peron is sticking to his announced plan to return to Argentina this year.

Sources said Peron might fly early in December to Asuncion, Paraguay, on the first stage of his return to Argentina. He has lived in exile in Madrid since January 1960.

Bystanders Refuse to Interfere as Man Hits Woman With Wrench

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two men and a woman uttered not a word nor moved a muscle as they stood 15 feet from a man assaulting a 39-year-old Pacific Palisades woman with a wrench, the victim told police.

Corene Griffin suffered numerous body bruises and had to have six stitches taken in a head wound. After she escaped she demanded of the bystanders: Why?

"We thought it was a private matter, maybe a husband and wife fight," the woman witness said. "How were we to know what it was all about?"

Mrs. Griffin said she left an opera in Shrine Auditorium late Wednesday night because she didn't feel well. She went to her car — parked under a street light in a service station near the auditorium — and lay down.

She said she dozed off and was awakened by her assailant, who drove off in her car after she managed to get out of it.

Soldiers Seeking 100 Accused of Plot in Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Federal soldiers searched today through the interior city of Goiania for more than 100 persons accused of involvement in a Communist-backed plot against the Brazilian government.

Army Col. Carlos Meira Matos Thursday led the troops into Goiania, capital of Goias State, and deposed Gov. Maruro Borges. The war ministry said he was the center of a "subversive focal point." Matos was named temporary administrator.

The Brazilian Congress has 60 days in which to ratify the action or Borges will be restored to office.

Borges was carried from the palace on the shoulders of supporters and disappeared after urging the people to "stay calm and await the decision of Congress." The governor had obtained a writ of habeas corpus from the Supreme Court prohibiting his arrest.

4 Die, 10 Hurt in Iowa Accidents

FORT DODGE, Iowa (AP) — Two carloads of Fort Dodge teenagers cracked up in separate accidents Thursday night while returning from a wedding reception at nearby Duncombe, leaving four dead and 10 injured.

Injured in one car which ran through a dead end intersection were Frederick Joseph Wickman, the driver, Tony Sanders and Russell Witte, each 17. Three boys with them were hospitalized.

An hour after this accident a car containing six boys and two girls rolled off U.S. Highway 20 about nine miles east of Fort Dodge. Terry Taylor, 17, was killed and four other boys in this car were taken to the Fort Dodge Lutheran Hospital. The girls and another boy were treated and released.

Refugees Lose Way but Find Safety in West

BRUNSWICK, Germany (AP) — Two East German refugees lost their way among the barbed wire barriers along the Iron Curtain border and by mistake doubled back into Communist territory, Western border police reported today.

The refugees, a 41-year-old teacher and a 27-year-old farm worker, finally managed to get across the border — unseen by East German guards — after wandering around the barriers in the dark Thursday night.

Traffic Toll Increased to Record 962

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Highway crashes in Wisconsin since the start of the Thanksgiving holiday period have claimed three lives, raising the state's record single-year toll to 962, compared with 805 on this date a year ago.

Edward J. Dzioba, 55, of Kenosha was injured fatally Thursday night when knocked down by one car and run over by another going in the same direction as he crossed Highway 32 about two miles south of Kenosha.

Mrs. Tillie Hansen, 67, of Milwaukee was killed Thursday afternoon when struck by a car on Milwaukee's South Side.

Carl Dustmann, 73, of Milwaukee died Thursday when his car overturned in a ditch after leaving an icy town road just north of Gresham in Shawano County.

Lee R. Bergner, 43, a partner in a Green Bay television repair business, was killed late Wednesday when his panel truck overturned in a ditch after leaving Highway 101 north of Armstrong Creek in Forest County.

Mrs. Anna Schmitz, 79, of La Crosse was killed late Wednesday when a car driven by her husband and a station wagon collided on Highway 33 about 10 miles east of La Crosse.

Huong Winner in Test of Strength

Plans for Demonstrations in Saigon Fail to Develop

BY JOHN T. WHEELER
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Tran Van Huong's declaration of martial law and his obvious intention to crush antigovernment riots with bullets if necessary appeared today to have won the scrappy leader a first round victory over his militant opponents.

Predicted mass demonstrations failed to materialize Thursday and today. The powerful Buddhist leadership apparently was shying away from a showdown in the streets, at least for the present.

The National Buddhist Institute was closed by barbed wire strung up by the Buddhists. Signs proclaimed there would be no demonstrations today.

Tries to Unify Opposites

Armed police broke up a news conference given by Nguyen Xuan Chu, former chairman of the National High Council. He announced the merging of 18 political parties and student groups into a national revolutionary committee pledged to destroy Huong's three-week-old government.

A maze of barbed wire was removed from around the palace of chief of state Phan Khac Suu. But troops were on the alert to crush any renewal of the demonstrations which were staged daily from Sunday through Wednesday. Huong proclaimed martial law Wednesday night.

The key to Huong's position continued to be the support of the military. It is still smarting over the collapse of military rule in August, when tough action was not taken against rioting mobs until too late.

Blames Communists

Huong in a broadcast said the Communist Viet Cong had played a role in the riots and that they were fomented by "groups of irresponsible people (who) have either innocently or deliberately fallen in with Communist plans and incited the most unoccupied and innocent sectors of the population."

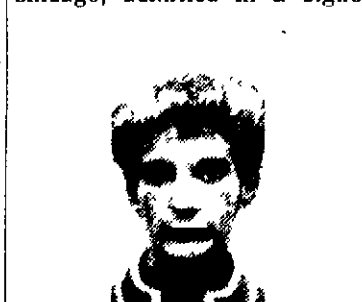

Huong said 86 members of the security forces and nearly all policemen were injured in Wednesday's melee. He did not

2 Arrested in Kidnap-Killing

Chicagoan Admits Fatal Shooting of Indiana Resident

LEBANON, Mo. (AP) — The FBI has said it will take custody of a Chicago man arrested near Lebanon Thursday in a kidnap-slaying case.

Ray Weddell Thorburn, 42, of Chicago, admitted in a signed

Loomis Thorburn statement that he shot William Loomis, 39, Indiana businessman, Sheriff Francis Murphy said.

The FBI plans to take Thorburn, also known as Jerry Lee Rogers, to Chicago to face a federal kidnap charge.

Already in custody in Chicago on the same charge is Philip A. Battaglia, 23, of Chicago, who was arrested there Tuesday.

Loomis' body, shot in the head, was found by deer hunters near Manistique, Mich., Nov. 1.

The FBI quoted Battaglia as saying he and Thorburn tied Loomis up, put him in the trunk of Loomis' car and drove to Northern Michigan.

Sheriff Murphy said Thorburn didn't mention Battaglia in his statement Thursday.

"I'm glad it's over. I feel

Brandt Picks Cabinet To Serve if He Wins

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP) — West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, leader of the opposition Social Democrats, named members of a Shadow Cabinet today that would take office if his party wins West Germany's general election next September.

Brandt presented a list of 11 party members at the concluding meeting of a five-day party congress.

Brandt said he was giving only a partial list. Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's Cabinet consists of 20 members.

Brandt lost the 1961 general election to then Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who retired in 1963. In the past three years the Socialists have made big gains.

'Turkey Trot' was the theme of the pre-Thanksgiving dance enjoyed Saturday evening by members of the Templonic Dance Club. The second party of the club season, held at the Masonic Temple, carried out its theme in table and hall decorations that included corn stalks, squash, pumpkins, gourds and fruits and in the serving of warm apple cider.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Nissen Jr. headed the dance committee. They were assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Orville Lehman, Mr. and Mrs. Karel Richmond, Mr. and Mrs. Edison Pope, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Martin, Mr. and Mrs. August Peters, and co-presidents for the '64-'65 season, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Rusch and Mr. and Mrs. Lynford Meyer.

Miss Jacobson Tells Circle of Welfare Needs

Miss Carol Jacobson, staff member of the Department of Public Welfare, spoke to the members of the Genevieve Paulson Circle of The King's Daughters Monday evening. The group met at the home of Mrs. John Carpenter, 1036 Moorpark Ave.

Miss Jacobson spoke of the need for foster homes for children of all ages from babies to teen-agers.

Members voted that proceeds from the dessert bridge, planned for Feb. 3, should go to Lee Hoffman, student at the Cove School, Oshkosh. Mrs. Carpenter reported on The King's Daughters Council. Mrs. Ernest Miller gave a report on the status of layette supplies. Shopping for the Christmas family, chosen by the Circle, was discussed by Mrs. Donald Sturtevant and Mrs. Neil Brahe. Plans for work at the City Home were told by Mrs. David Weiland.

The group will hold a cocktail party for circle members and their husbands at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 5 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mares, 625 W. Prospect Ave.

Communist Women Shy Public Life, Stay Feminine In Spite of Red Pressures

BY BETTY O'REGAN

BUDAPEST (AP) — Men and governments are forever telling women what to do and where to go. The Communist regimes of East Europe are no exception.

Hitler pointed his finger at the female sex and said: "Children, church and kitchen." The Communist regimes proclaim: "Factory, field and free abortion."

What is the result of Communist policy? A woman's work is still never really done and women keep on being women regardless of policy or politics.

The Honored Few Some women, it's true, have taken to politics in a big way and have hit the political limelight. There are Nexhimje Hoxha, wife of the Albanian Communist party chief who plays an active political role, and Lotte Ulbricht, wife of the East German Communist boss, who is a militant Communist feminist.

And of course, Nina Khrushchev, But the majority of women in Communist East Europe go about their work without public recognition. Bezeny Novotny, wife of the Czechoslovak leader, appears in public only once a year on March 8, Communism's International Women's Day. The wives of the Bulgarian and Hungarian leaders are as anonymous as Madame Novotny.

Boulder Breakers As for the mass of women, you see them doing work different from their mothers, and bearing fewer children.

They bend over the hoes in the fields, they sit in the dust of reconstruction in Budapest, scraping off old bricks for new buildings, and they pound on boulders in Bulgaria with pitifully small hammers to make them into gravel for the highways.

You see women driving streetcars, sweeping streets and directing traffic. In East Germany, women stoke furnaces, drive construction cranes and work as masons.

The professions are full of women: lawyers, doctors, engineers, teachers, and technicians. Bulgaria has several women pilots flying the national airlines commercial planes.

Labor is short in most Communist countries and female workers are needed to keep the economy going. Czechoslovakia's labor force is 45 per cent women. Wages are low and a woman needs to work to keep the family going.

Model Mother It's long, hard day for the mother in a Communist country. She leaves the children at the state-run nursery while she goes to her job. But she still has to do the family wash, queue in the shops for food, do the cooking and the house cleaning.

In Red societies, nothing is simple because of the bureaucracy. "It's so difficult," one young Czech mother says, "One has no time for one's children."

"No time for children," is one reason for falling birthrates. Another is "no place for children." Officially, Communist housing is supposed to provide 30 square feet for each person. But housing is desperately short and families of four often live in one room.

Abortions Abound Thus, wives take advantage of free, legal abortions to solve their economic problems. In Hungary, official statistics show there were 20 per cent more abortions than live births in 1961. Hungary's birth rate is the second lowest in all of Europe. Eighty-five per cent of Hungarian abortions in 1963 were performed on married women.

Bulgarian and Romanian birthrates have also fallen sharply. Czechoslovakia has the same problem and has made it more difficult to get abortions as an attempt to stop the decline and build up a larger labor force potential.

The birthrate in Poland is also falling, but because of unemployment there, there is less concern.

"The problem," said one Hungarian woman, "is not only cramped living, but my husband and I don't make enough to keep children properly."

Always Female But while life for women is not easy, women in East Europe remain feminine as always.

Budapest, Prague, Burcharest and Sofia are not peopled with militant Communist women with short straight hair, flat shoes and leather jackets striding through the streets. Despite economic problems, they appear on the streets of their cities well turned out. And in the country, women in colorful peasant dress work their embroidery on the steps of their houses.

Paris fashion magazines are available in some cities and dressmakers copy models from them. Hungarian fashion shows even have recently received favorable notices in Vienna and Paris.

Beauty Before Politics Style-conscious Polish women wear seamless stockings, high-heeled and preferably Italian shoes and eye makeup. Socialist fashions flopped because no women wanted to buy a state-produced dress she knew most of her contemporaries would also be buying.

Talk to women in Communist countries. They don't lecture you on Marxism, or talk about the next elections (because they know in advance the Communists will win). "Where did you buy your lipstick? How do you keep it from coming off when you eat?" "How do you keep from getting too fat in the West?" "What do you think of Budapest? What complaints do you have about our city?"

Back to Old Line "Are the skirt lengths different here in Prague than in Paris?"

"How much rent do you pay for your apartment and whom do you pay it to?" "Do you live with your mother-in-law? How do you get along? Do your children do well in school? Will they pass their examinations?"

The women in Communist Europe are women and the men know it. The time has gone when a young Communist lad would hope to get anywhere with the polite question: "Comrade, would you do me a sexual favor?"

He has to resort to the old formula now: "Darling, you look beautiful tonight, I love you."

Grace Circle Plans Spring Style Show

KAUKAUNA — The Spring Style Show was discussed at the Grace Circle of The King's Daughters when they met at the home of Mrs. Eugene Vandenhoevel, 212 Filmore St., Monday evening. Mrs. David Grunwaldt and Mrs. Robert Zimmermann will be co-chairmen for the show. Other committee members and the date will be announced later.

The group received their charter at the state convention. Members will collect for the March of Dimes in January. Mrs. Kenneth Pawlek reported on The Silver Chalice magazine.

An installation ceremony will be held at the home of Mrs. Irving Curry in January. The history of The King's Daughters will be reviewed by Mrs. Bruce Carlson at the February meeting.

A Christmas social will be held in December for members and their husbands at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Trettin, 301 Filmore St.

Benefit Circle Hears Report On Recent Sale

Mrs. John Kloehn reported on the recent Green Door Sale of the Benefit Circle of The King's Daughters meeting Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Robert Zwicker, 921 E. Alton St. Co-hostesses were Mrs. John Landis and Mrs. John Menn.

New members welcomed into the circle were Mrs. William Wilke and Mrs. Jean Otto. Mrs. William Playman returned after a one year leave of absence.

It was announced that the Christmas party will take place at 6:30 p.m. Dec. 9 at Butte des Morts Golf Club.

KD Circle Visits Plamann Classrooms

Mrs. Potter V. Park was hostess to the Infant Welfare Circle of The King's Daughters, meeting Tuesday afternoon at the Robert Plamann School. The Circle, in recognition of the program, nominating committee chairman, presented a slate of officers for 1965. Serving for the next year will be Mrs. James Bergstrom, president; Mrs. Herbert Hackworthy, first vice president; Mrs. John Reeve, second vice president; Mrs. Chandler Rowe, secretary; Mrs. George Cameron, assistant secretary; Mrs. F. Stansbury Young, treasurer, and Mrs. Jack Benton, assistant treasurer.

Mrs. Park served tea in the school dining room.

Kaukauna Setting for Ceremony

KAUKAUNA — Nuptial vows were exchanged by Miss Ellen Schlack, 206½ E. Seventh St., and James Jirikowic at 9 a.m. Thursday at St. Mary Catholic Church. The Rev. Gerald Alfieri officiated at the nuptial mass.

The bride is a niece of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Revoir, Little Chute. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jirikowic, 100 W. Tenth St., Kaukauna.

Mr. Revoir, the bride's uncle, escorted her to the altar. Mr. and Mrs. John Schlack, Neenah, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, served as the couple's honor attendants. Ushering duties were fulfilled by Richard Schlack and William Jirikowic.

The couple greeted guests at a reception held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jirikowic, Kaukauna.

The bride is employed at an Appleton restaurant. Mr. Jirikowic is with Van Dalen's Cabinet Shop.

After a honeymoon in northern Wisconsin, the couple will reside at 100 W. Tenth St., Kaukauna.

Acne Not Dietary Disease, Doctors' Treatments Vary

Something can be done about acne.

The pimples, blemishes, blackheads and boils that make life miserable for so many teenagers often can be eliminated or considerably reduced by careful attention.

Waiting to outgrow acne can be a serious mistake.

Acne isn't a serious disease. In that it's not a threat to life and limb, but it can be seriously disfiguring at the time of life when young people are most sensitive about their appearance. Severe acne can lead to permanent scarring.

Acne is caused by poor adjustment of the skin to the secretions of maturing glands. The imbalance in hormone secretions will correct itself in time, usually around the age of 18 or 19.

No Sure Cure

There are two things to remember in dealing with acne.

There is no one-shot cure, no magic pill. Control is a continuing process of simple skin care which you must follow faithfully to have a good complexion.

Second, acne is not a disease of dirt, even though you are told to wash thoroughly and frequently. The washing is to remove oils and to clear the plugged oil glands, keeping blackheads at a minimum. The blackness of the blackhead is not dirt, but is due to a chemical change in the secretions from the oil glands.

Wash the face two or more times daily with soap and hot water. Wash thoroughly, but gently enough to avoid irritating.

the skin. Frequent shampooing of the hair also is in order.

Acne is not primarily a dietary disease. Following one strict diet will not, by itself, clear your skin. However, some individuals seem to be made worse by very small amounts of certain foods, particularly chocolate, and these persons obviously should avoid such offending foods entirely.

Medical care for acne is best sought early before permanent damage is done. Each physician will have his own particular rules, methods and medications, and the treatment prescribed will vary from patient to patient. Do not assume that the medicines and methods prescribed for a friend will be the best, or even proper, treatment for you.

Your doctor probably will warn against picking, scratching, popping and squeezing of pimples, since they may result in scars. Ask him whether you should open pustules or extract blackheads yourself. If he recommends this, he will show you how to do it without damage.

In some patients other treatments, such as antibiotics or other drugs, ultraviolet light or x-ray therapy, may be selected by your physician. Your physician will determine your specific needs.

Your Problems

Disinterested Guest Driven To Despair by Home Movies

DEAR ANN LANDERS, My husband told me last night that from now on he flatly refuses to look at any more home movies. He said the next time this thing is visited on him he is walking out of the house—no matter whose it is. Frankly, after last night I can't blame him.

We were invited to what we thought was a dinner party. When we arrived, the host was want to. In fact I am opposed to marriages under such conditions unless both parties want very much to be married.

You are obliged to pay the girl's medical bills and support the child if she decides she wants to keep the child. You are, of course, financially responsible for the child until he is of legal age.

If your father will not (or cannot) help you meet this obligation you may have to quit school and go to work. This is a stunning price to pay for foolishness. (Are you listening, students?)

Liquor can ruin your mind, your body and your life. To learn the boobytraps of teen-age drinking, write for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-age Drinking," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Promises Given in Ceremony

HORTONVILLE — Miss Susan McHugh and Dennis Ashauer exchanged wedding promises at 10 a.m. Thursday at St. Peter and Paul Catholic Church. The Rev. Leo Przybylski officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McHugh, route 1, Hortonville, and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ashauer, Greenville.

Honor attendants for the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Broehm.

A wedding dinner was served at the Country Aire Club, Appleton.

Mrs. Ashauer is a teller at the Appleton State Bank. Her husband is in construction work.

Hobby Club Contest Winners Announced

Four Appleton youngsters and one from rural Clintonville are winners of wire puzzles in the word-square puzzle contest published in the Young Hobby Club department Nov. 11.

Today's Etiquette

PLACING DESSERT FORK

Dear Louise: I noticed a table setting at an informal dinner party recently that I had never seen. At each place between the tips of the knife and fork and arranged parallel to the table edge was a dessert fork. Is this correct and if not, where should it be?

Louise Davis Answers: The dessert fork should not be in the position that you described. Correctly, these forks should be brought to the table with the dessert. A second choice and tionately small, it would appear to be out of balance.

GUEST OF HONOR
Dear Louise: How does one determine a guest of honor? Where he or she sit at a dinner party?

Louise Davis Answers: The host and hostess determine the guest of honor who may be a celebrity, an out of town guest or anybody who is being honored for any reason such as a birthday. If a woman she is seated at the host's right and if a man, he is at the hostess' right. The honor place often goes to one who is considerably older than the others. However, if all the guests are equal in the rank, they are seated by the hostess according to congeniality with those around them.

Menasha High School Students Discuss: "Will You Stay in the Fox River Valley?"

Recently a group of students from the Menasha high school, one by one, told Milwaukee Sentinel staff writer Alida Johns what their ideas are on the subject of remaining here after their education is completed. What they had to say will appear this Saturday, November 28, as this week's feature in "Young Ideas," a stimulating department which appears each Saturday in The Sentinel.

Don't fail to read these lively interviews with Menasha teen agers who are alert and articulate on issues of local and contemporary interest.

Read "Young Ideas" every Saturday for interesting expressions of opinion by high schoolers on topics of special interest to the younger generation. Students from a different Wisconsin high school are interviewed each week.

Too Much Caution Is Costly

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

National Men's Team Champion
"The wicked flee when no man pursueth," Charlie Lederer remarked to me the other day in the middle of a bridge hand. It was bad enough that the famous screenwriter had me over a barrel; he didn't have to call attention to my sins.

cashied the queen of spades and led another spade toward his hand. This is where I made the supercautious mistake of putting up the nine of spades to make sure of forcing out declarer's king.

As Lederer later pointed out with his Biblical quotation, he had not intended to finesse with the eight of spades if I had played a low trump I had fled when nobody pursued me.

Bad Break Revealed
When West discarded a club the cat was out of the bag. Lederer knew that he had to organize a trump coup to pick up my jack of trumps.

Declarer led a heart and continued the suit when I refused the first trick. I took the second heart and returned another diamond. Lederer won in dummy, ruffed a good heart, and got back to dummy with a diamond.

With the stage set for the coup, Lederer led dummy's last heart and discarded the king of diamonds. This left him in dummy with two trumps behind my two trumps. No matter which trump I played, he was ready to over-ruff.

It's worth noticing that declarer had to ruff once to bring about the end position, but he had to ruff a heart! If he ruffed dummy's remaining club, I would hasten to discard a diamond and declarer would be unable to get back to dummy for the final trumpless trump finesse.

"The Devil can cite Scripture for his purpose," I reminded Lederer as he added up the score, but my heart wasn't in it. A trump coup is a pretty sight even when it is executed against you.

Explaining Approaching Birth To Child Can Remove Fear

BY DR. EVE JONES

DEAR DR. JONES: Have I worried my 20-month-old daughter unnecessarily, do you think? I'm expecting a second child in five weeks, and I didn't tell her anything until lately. I told plain your altered shape and size.

Help her understand the facts so she can realize that giving birth isn't casual and unpredictable. Tell her it takes a baby nine months to grow too big to want to stay inside his mother, and your baby has been growing for eight months.

So in another four weeks, he'll start to come out and you'll go to the hospital to have the doctor help him come out. Tell her you'll stay there for a few days afterwards to make certain the baby is OK. Then you'll be home with her again.

Tell her you'll let her know when the baby starts to arrive. So she can be certain you won't sneak out, give her an important job to take care of at that time—something like reminding you to pack your toothbrush.

Her tantrums may also be connected with her terror that she'll lose her self-control when she's alone. That's common for children her age, especially if

The Ailing House

Try This Bricked Patio

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q: I am planning on building a patio using bricks, laying them flat. A part of it will be driven on occasionally. Do these bricks have to be mortared to a cement slab or is a sand base all right?

A: Very often when bricks are firmly tamped into a sand base, even driving over them won't disrupt the alignment. I can only suggest giving it a try. You could always do the concreting later. Of course, if you wish to be super-certain about avoiding possible future work, then by all means put down the concrete slab—at least where a car might drive over it. Caution: In cold climates, when brick is laid on concrete, the porous concrete can cause bricks to loosen occasionally when absorbed water freezes.

Q: Our home is two years old and is insulated—both walls and ceilings. There are also outside vents for ventilation. When the weather turns cold, the outside walls inside the house get wet. What causes this and how can it be remedied?

A: The reason the walls get wet is because air in the house is excessively damp. And with windows and doors closed against the cold, there is much less ventilation.

An exhaust fan in the kitchen wall, as well as in the laundry, will greatly help. So will constant ventilation of bathrooms after hot, steamy showers. So will frequent ventilation during clear, dry days—even if only for two or three minutes at a time, with opposite windows open an inch or so.

Q: Recently my son and I sanded his living room floor of red and white oak, using a coarse grade and a fine paper to finish. Sanding was done lengthwise (with the grain). After sanding and sealing was completed, we discovered that the floor was so rough a dust mop cannot be used. Where did we err? Is there a remedy without going over it again with a sander?

A: Three different grades of sandpaper are recommended for their parents are expecting them to be too polite, clean, and loving. Try easing your demands on her, and encourage her to tell you about her anger and envies.

Don't kid yourself that she "loves any newborn she sees"—women ten times her age have difficulty controlling themselves enough to develop maternal feelings. Even five weeks of being able to be frank and honest with you should be enough to eliminate the tantrums.

Street Map To be Adopted For Village

Combined Locks to Be Assisted by Regional Planner

COMBINED LOCKS — The village planning commission and village board has authorized the regional planner to prepare a master street map for adoption by the village.

The official street map is to include all streets currently in use in the village and carry proposed streets such as the Candee Street or College Avenue extension from Appleton, the north-south expressway and the extension of Glenview Avenue.

Purpose of the map is to have property reserved for future streets, thus insuring orderly planning and growth of the community in line with the master plan for the region. Action was taken at the recommendation of Eugene Franchetti, regional planner.

The first of several meetings of the planning committee has been held to study street locations and additional meetings are planned before the master map will be completed. A public hearing will also be held prior to adoption of the plan by the village board.

Oath Administered
Craig Nissen, Quill and Scroll president, explained the club and administered the oath to the new members. Initiation ceremony conducted by Susan Nock, vice president; Helen Gabert, secretary, and Kay Kruse, Elizabeth Borsum, Kathy Downs, Deborah Baker and Bonnie Steckbar, members.

Following the ceremony, Susan and Louise Noffke entertained with several folk songs. Refreshments were served. Donald Theyerl is club adviser.

Beam Falls at AAL Construction

A 25-foot beam weighing more than 1,000 pounds fell while being lifted from the top of the Aid Association for Lutherans building, 222 W. College Ave. about 10 a.m. today. No one was injured.

Workmen said the beam was being taken from the 10th floor and was being loaded into a truck. While several stories in the air, the sling on the crane snapped, sending the beam crashing to the ground about six feet from the truck. The beam was being used by masons in a scaffold.

A Fire Department Photographer is shown inside a burned-out home where John Cayo, 26, was found burned to death shortly after 2 a.m. today. The home is located at 237 E. Murry St., on Appleton's southside. Firemen said the home was completely engulfed with flames by the time they were summoned to the scene by a passing motorist. (Story on A-1). (Post-Crescent Photo)

$5 Property Tax Increase Possible in Combined Locks

Hearing Tuesday Night on 1965
Tentative Budget of $522,546

COMBINED LOCKS — A tentative $522,546 budget for 1965, of which $427,888 is to be raised by the property tax levy at a $38.50 rate, has been proposed by the village board. The proposed budget represents a $5 tax rate increase.

In 1964 the budget was $513,370, with $382,170 raised by property taxes. A public hearing on the 1965 budget will be held Tuesday at 7 p.m. Assessed value of the village is $11,723,250, a $408,140 decrease from 1963. This shows a portion of the increased tax rate is a result in lower assessed valuation.

A major spending increase came in the education and recreation budget of $291,882, an increase of $24,657 over last year. School operation costs are listed as $288,411, a $27,787 increase.

General Government

Health and sanitation costs remained at $5,650. The highway budget is $83,900, about $8,000 less than in 1964. Last year's budget included a $21,000 appropriation for a village garage addition. Road and street improvement costs were increased by $1,000 to $33,500. Street department salaries went up $1,000 to $24,000 and a $4,500 appropriation is included in the year's budget for equipment purchases.

Indebtedness
Indebtedness payments amount to $26,650, $570 from 1964. Final debt payments will be made in 1965, leaving the community debt free. State taxes increased $102 from last year's $3,176 to $3,278, while county taxes were decreased $634 to $54,164.

Miscellaneous expenses went down $1,050 to $8,946. Anticipated receipts from sources other than property are $68,290, compared to $131,200 in 1964. Receipts in 1964 included $21,000 from sale of notes and a $16,000 surplus, neither of which are found in the 1965 budget.

Expected state income tax receipts are up $3,000 to $40,000; utility tax estimate up $1,500 to $24,000; telephone tax, $1,300; fire insurance refund $300; special assessments down $11,000 to $8,200, and licenses and permits, $790.

State and county aids expected in 1965 are $13,000, compared to $12,400 in 1964, and miscellaneous receipts dropped from $45,700 to $7,000.

Minnesota Man Files Year in Advance for Recreation Head's Job

A Rochester, Minn., man, hoping to get a head start on other potential applicants, has applied more than a year in advance for the post of Appleton recreation director.

A city council committee recently indicated E. W. Grover, director for almost two decades, plans to retire in 1966. "I realize the opening is more than a year away," the applicant wrote city officials. "However, I would appreciate being considered with this post."

A special committee is studying a proposal by Mayor Clarence Mitchell to consolidate the recreation and park departments.

Vocational School Boards Back Regional Institution

Three of Five Governing Bodies
Include Conditions in Resolutions

Resolutions favoring the concept of organization for a vocational post-high school technical institute have been adopted by all five Fox Cities vocational school boards, with tree of the five including conditions related to the continuation of local programs. Discussion of organization of a Fox Cities area vocational school to offer post-high school technical and vocational courses has been underway since last spring by a committee representing the Appleton, Kimberly, Kaukauna, Neenah and Menasha vocational and adult school boards.

A resolution formally stating its support for organization of an area school was passed Nov. 12 by the Appleton board. Resolutions of support for an area concept have also been passed by the other four boards, but those passed by the Kaukauna, Neenah and Menasha boards specify certain conditions.

The Kimberly board's resolution, like that of the Appleton board, sets up no conditions. Develop Plan
The area school study committee Tuesday instructed the five school directors to develop a detailed plan for the structure and operation of a proposed area school, for consideration by the committee, the local boards and the state board.

Menasha Vocational School board unanimously went on record Nov. 12 favoring an area school. The Neenah board went on record unanimously Nov. 19 "favoring the area concept of vocational and technical education" providing it can be accomplished under certain conditions. The board asked "assurance that services now provided locally will be continued" and that the area school "does not eliminate local control over programs now offered locally."

It also said legal procedures must be clearly established, and asked a complete plan in writing, outlining purpose, benefits, scope, size and costs of an area school, and conferences with the city council and Neenah joint school district board on probable impact on the local tax rate, before a final decision can be made.

The Kaukauna board Tuesday went on record "favoring a concept of an area post-high school technical institute in the central Fox River Valley," with

County Structure on Trial; Basic Change is Indicated

Wisconsin Supreme Court Hears
Testimony on Representation,
Delays Action Until After Jan. 5

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — The structure of county government in Wisconsin, which has survived unchanged from frontier times, went on trial today in the Wisconsin Supreme Court, with every indication a basic change is in prospect.

The chambers were crowded and the atmosphere was solemn as the seven members of the state's highest tribunal listened while a battery of lawyers disputed a petition demanding the court throw out the existing pattern of county board organization, and establish a new one fitting the equality guarantees of the state and U. S. constitutions.

The court did not rule immediately. The earliest response is expected to be Jan. 5, and a decision may not come until later than that.

Meanwhile, a strong proposal for a new system of county board districting will be before the newly elected State Legislature which meets in January.

Follow Legislative Lead
Some observers believe the court, following its own precedent in the earlier reapportionment of the legislature, will await the decision of the legislators before imposing its own authority as it did a year ago in its legislative reapportionment decree.

Protest about the inequality in county board representation has been accumulating for years, and reached a climax in a petition brought to the court by two suburban Waukesha County residents challenging the county government of Waukesha County.

That county, like many others, has grown in urban population, with the result that some rural town representatives have a voting power in county government many times that of other village and city residents.

Their petition asks the court to create a system of equal population districts for county board members, to replace the traditional system of town, village and city ward supervisors now provided by state law.

Legislative Proposal
The new legislature will receive a proposal by its study committee for the classification of counties according to population, for a limit on the size of county boards within classes, and a system of equal population districts within each county.

Numerous parties, including the Appleton Chamber of Commerce, filed briefs as "friends of the court" supporting the Waukesha County petitioners. Attorney Karl Baldwin, for the

$2,192,000 to be Spent on Roads in 4 Valley Counties

Projects Listed for Outagamie,
Winnebago, Calumet, Waupaca

The State Highway Commission plans to spend $2,192,000 on 33.46 miles of roads in the four-county Fox Valley area in 1965. This includes $650,000 for 11.4 miles in Outagamie County; $286,000 for 10.5 miles in Winnebago County; $626,000 for 6.26 miles in Calumet County; and $630,000 for 5.2 miles in Waupaca County.

Most costly project proposed for Outagamie County is grading, base and bituminous plant mix for 3.5 miles of State 47 between U. S. 41 and Black Creek at a cost of $312,000.

Other projects include $98,000

Engineering and right-of-way costs for Outagamie County were set at $36,000.

Winnebago County
Major project in Winnebago County is bituminous plant mix for 5.6 miles of U. S. 41 from Brooks Corners near Oshkosh to Neenah, at a cost of $151,000.

Some 1.3 miles of State 114 from Waverly Beach to Menasha will receive bituminous plant mix at a cost of $35,000.

State 114 also will be paved with bituminous plant mix along Plank Road in Menasha for .7 of a mile for $55,000. State 116 also will be paved from Winneconne to State 110 for 2.9 miles at a cost of $41,000.

Winnebago County engineering and right-of-way costs are $4,000.

Calumet County
All of Calumet County's allocation is devoted to one project — 6.36 miles of U. S. 10-State 114 between Appleton and Sherwood, at a cost of $626,000. This includes $512,000 for grading base and bituminous plant mix, and $114,000 for engineering and right-of-way.

The allotment for Waupaca County also is for one project, the U. S. 10 Waupaca Beltline. This includes structures, grading and base over 5.2 miles at a cost of $515,000. Engineering and right-of-way will cost $115,000.

Fox Valley highway improvements proposed for 1965 were part of $107 million worth of work in 67 counties announced last week by Gov. John W. Reynolds.

Be Prohibited Dec. 1

KAUKAUNA — The ordinance prohibiting parking on city streets between the hours of 1 and 5 a.m. goes into effect Dec. 1 and officers have been instructed to tag violations, according to Harold V. Engerson, chief of police.

Purpose of the ordinance is to keep streets clear in event of storm when crews work nights on snow removal. He advised motorists in the habit of parking in front of their homes to move cars into driveways or onto terraces to avoid paying a fine.

Patience Paid Off for Miss Fern Hovde, who has a healthy Brazilian orchid blooming in her Primary III classroom in Jefferson School. Measuring the purple orchid — 4 1/2 inches across and growing — is John Fuller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Fuller. Miss Hovde received the plant several years ago from a student and babied it, carrying it home every summer, without success. Last summer she left it in the classroom under the care of the janitor, and this month it blossomed forth for the first time. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Nomination Papers Start Rounds Today

22 Aldermen, Supervisors
Face Election Next Spring

Today was the first day for circulating nomination papers for 22 city offices to be voted on in the 1965 spring election.

Positions to be filled April 6, include those of 10 aldermen, 10 city supervisors on the Outagamie County Board and two board of education members.

Aldermen and supervisors representing the city's odd-numbered wards will be elected. An Alderman receives $1,200 a year for his part-time job; county supervisors, $14 a meeting; and school board members serve without pay.

Terms of Office
Aldermen and supervisors serve two-year terms; school board members, three years.

City Clerk Elden Broehm said anyone over 21 years old may circulate papers.

Broehm said papers for alderman and supervisor must be circulated within ward boundaries by an elector of that ward.

However, papers for citywide elective offices — such as school board — can be circulated without regard to ward boundaries, Broehm said.

School Board
School board aspirants need not be residents of the city. They must be residents of the school district and circulate the petition within its boundaries.

Appleton School District, includes parts of the Towns of Buchanan, Grand Chute, Harrison and Menasha.

Deadline for filing nomination papers is 5 p.m. Jan. 26.

Richard G. Huisman, 1002 N. Superior St., First Ward.

Kenneth J. Loos, 806 W. Winnebago St., Third Ward.

Alvin E. Tews, 1128 W. Lorain St., Fifth Ward.

Mrs. Dorothy O. Stillings, 1323 Oakcrest Ct., Seventh Ward.

Robert J. Stumpf, 2207 S. Greenview St., Ninth Ward.

E. V. Krueger, 1707 S. Carpenter St., Eleventh Ward.

Howard F. Stumpf, 28 Weimar Ct., Thirteenth Ward.

Al C. Fischer, 1813 E. Glendale Ave., Fifteenth Ward.

Orville A. Strutz, 733 E. Grant St., Seventeenth Ward.

Arthur E. Mueller, 2230 N. Mason St., Nineteenth Ward.

First Candidate for Alderman Files Papers for Spring Vote

It took an Appleton resident but three hours and 27 minutes today to take out and file nomination papers to run for alderman in the spring election.

Glenn W. Thompson, 1624 S. Walden Ave., officially became the first candidate for office, seeking the 13th Ward aldermanic post. He is a turbine operator at Riverside Paper Co.

Also obtaining papers was the incumbent alderman in the 13th, Howard Stumpf, 28 Weimar Ct., a mill worker. He is completing his first two-year term on the city council.

Others circulating papers for council positions include Al Richard Huisman, 1002 N. Superior St., a pressman at Tuttle Press with three years experience as an alderman; and Mrs. Betty M. Milheiser, 1413 N. Wayne St., a housewife.

Mrs. Milheiser is circulating papers in the 15th Ward where Al C. Fischer is the incumbent.

Obtaining papers for county board was Arthur Hoolihan, 623 E. Harrison St., who has been the 11th Ward supervisor since 1958. Hoolihan is a free-lance reporter.

County Structure Goes On Trial in High Court

Appleton Chamber, told the court that in Outagamie County, a third of the population elects more than half of the members of the county board, and said such a system is plainly invalid under the equal protection clause of the U. S. Constitution. Other counsel told the judges in some Wisconsin counties, fewer than one-fourth of the people have an effective majority power on their county boards and the ratio of inequality ranges up to 66 to 1.

Vote Debasement
"This is a debasement of the citizens' vote," protested James Brody, one of the lawyers for the petitioners.

Other lawyers said the U. S. Supreme Court, which inspired the country-wide reapportionment drive when it ruled invalid some state districting systems, has not yet ruled on the local government issue, but several federal court cases are now pending.

Another attorney told the court the state legislature would not dare set up a system of county government voting that would discriminate on the basis of race, creed or color.

A system that violates the "one man, one vote" principle is equally illegal, he claimed.

'Tidal Wave'
Harold Wollenstein, representing defendant Waukesha County, with the backing of the Wisconsin County Boards Association, declared "we are engulfed in a tidal wave that is sweeping the country." But he said the county is not like the state. The rules about equal districting applying to the legislature do not necessarily apply to a county board, he said.

The county is merely a creature of the legislature, rather than an independent entity resulting from the will of its residents, he said. He described it as an administrative mechanism for the local application of state legislative decisions.

Unlike cities, Wisconsin counties do not have home rule and are permitted to act only under strictly delegated authority of the state, he and others argued.

Ask Delay
Then the Waukesha County counsel asked the court to delay a ruling on the validity of the present system until the legislature can consider the new county reorganization recommendation of its study committee.

tee which he said is a serious effort to improve county government "and not merely lip service."

He also said the state court would find useful the expected U.S. court decisions on redistricting of counties resulting from Federal Court cases now being tried around the country.

Members of the state court gave no immediate indication of their views on the historic argument, but asked questions in a lively fashion.

School Boards
Chief Justice George Currie asked whether the equal voting idea should also apply in local school board elections. The response was that it depends on whether school boards have legislative powers.

Justice Bruce Beilfuss indicated concern about how the court would apply a new system of county government if it found it had the duty to do so, in view of the wide variations of population, geographic size and other characteristics among Wisconsin counties.

He also noted that large villages now under represented on county boards, have the cure in their own hands. They could become cities under present law, and obtain more county representation, he explained.

The court case involves 70 of the 72 counties in Wisconsin. Milwaukee and Menominee counties are not concerned because they are already operating under separate systems of county board representation.

Restitution Required Prior to Sentencing For Disorderly Conduct

NEENAH — Sentencing of two 18 year old youths for disorderly conduct was postponed until Dec. 13 by Circuit Judge James V. Sitter, in Winnebago County Court Branch 3, Neenah, Wednesday.

Sentencing will depend on restitution for damages incurred when a foreign made car was turned around in its assigned parking stall at Neenah High School Nov. 22.

Mark Butterfield, 18, 531 S. Commercial St., and Lee Whitman, 18, 144 Tyler St., are each to pay restitution of $26.66 before appearing on Dec. 13. A 16 year old youth has been ordered to pay a like amount by juvenile court for his participation in the incident.

Agriculture Teachers Study Tax Procedures

HORTONVILLE — Vocational agriculture instructors from 50 schools in Northeastern Wisconsin met at the high school on Monday for an income tax workshop.

Instructions on income tax filing were conducted by representatives of the federal and state district tax offices. Paul Kreul, local vocational agriculture instructor, was in charge of arrangements.

Board Members
Board of education members whose terms expire are Roy Whitney, 1709 S. Douglas St., and Charles B. Buchanan, 229 N. Union St. The board has four other members, half to be elected in 1966 and the others in 1967.

Positions of supervisor to be filled include those occupied by: Henry A. Bartz, 550 N. Clark St., First Ward.

George J. Greisch, 906 N. State St., Third Ward.
Frank R. Appleton, 1213 W. Lorain St., Fifth Ward.

the condition that "this board must be assured that the existing and proposed legislation does not dissolve the local board of vocational and adult education, or interfere with the board's jurisdiction and function in the operation of its own local program of vocational and adult education."

May Modify
Kaukauna delegates at the area committee meeting Tuesday indicated this position might be modified. The Kimberly board went on record favoring an area school without specifying conditions. Its resolution noted that if the five vocational school boards adopt an overall area plan, this will be presented to the five public school boards, which must appoint an area vocational school board. The area board's first duty would be to hire an administrator and get authorization to hire an architect and design a building.

State Director of Vocational and Adult Education Clarence Greiber has recommended the five districts form a single district with one board, which would operate a central school for post-high school programs and continue local programs in each community.

Anti-Poverty Bill Regional Meeting Set at Green Bay

The fifth of seven regional meetings on the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964—the Anti-poverty program—will be held Thursday in Green Bay.

Two representatives of the State Department of Resource Development, Madison, will discuss the general poverty situation in Wisconsin, and provisions of the law.

The meeting will begin at 9:30 a.m. in the Northland Hotel, and will end at 4 p.m.

Early Season Arrests

30 Erring Deer Hunters Pay Fines, Forfeit Bonds in Waupaca Court

WAUPACA — Thirty deer hunters arrested during the first three days of this year's deer season either appeared in Municipal Justice Court Tuesday or forfeited bonds to the court.

Most of the hunters were arrested for possession of untaged deer, hunting within 200 feet of a highway or carrying uncased guns in their car.

Hunters who paid fines of $75 for possession of untaged venison were Roman F. Omernick, 39, Cedarburg; Bartow D. Daniel, Milwaukee, and Alfred H. Luedtke, 1251 Valley Road, Oshkosh.

Untagged Deer
Hunters fined $50 and costs for possession of untaged deer were James A. Faber, 20, Thomas Faber, 22, Richard G. Faber, 24, and Kenneth L. Faber, 19, all of West Bend; Billy L. Harrington, New Berlin; Milton L. Weiler, 23, Milwaukee, and Harold F. Troedel, 24, route 3, West Bend. Oliver Larson, 61, 217 Kaukauna St., Menasha, pleaded guilty of shooting a fawn in a closed area and was fined $75 and costs. A guilty plea to taking a party deer in the wrong area was entered by Arthur W. Schmidt, 51, Royalton. He was fined $50 and costs. James Niesen, 18, 723 Lawe

St., Kaukauna, pleaded guilty of hunting within 200 feet of a highway and carrying a loaded and uncased gun in a car. He was fined $25 on the first charge, $50 and costs on the second charge.

Bonds of $19.20 for hunting within 200 feet of a highway

Charge Hunter With Negligent Use of Firearms

Alvin Towne, 23, Waupaca, Will be Tried for Homicide

WAUPACA — A charge of homicide by negligent use of a firearm was issued Tuesday against Alvin R. Towne, 23, 15½ High St., Waupaca. Towne is a deer hunter who allegedly fired a shot which killed 16-year-old Richard Johnson on the opening day of this year's deer hunting season.

Towne and Johnson were hunting with three other men in a wooded area north of Waupaca when the fatal shot was fired. Johnson was struck in the head and died instantly.

The hunters told authorities they were standing within a few feet of each other when a deer was spotted crossing a nearby clearing. Towne and two other members of the party shot at the deer. In this volley of shots, the Johnson was hit, authorities said.

Views Accident Scene
The warrant for Towne's arrest was issued after Dist. Atty. Gerald Anderson viewed the accident scene Tuesday.

Towne did not appear in Municipal Court Wednesday, but was represented by his attorney, Richard E. Peterson, who entered a plea of innocent as the case over to Waupaca County Court for trial and set bond at $1,000 which was posted in Towne's behalf.

were forfeited by John D. Frank, 27, W. Cleveland St., New Berlin; Jerry Looker, route 1, Kaukauna; Charles Looker, 20, Fremont; Louis Ledberg, Racine; Eugene Doyle, 27, Minneapolis; Tom Schubert, 18, 109 W. Warren St., New London; L. H. Wildenberg, 44, Van Dyne; Donald Pett, 55, Milton Junction; Phillip Braley, route 2, Iola; Charles W. Van Nocher, 50, 1716 W. Wilson St., Oshkosh, and Milton Koehler, 33, Spruce St., Oshkosh.

Paul J. Herman, 32, Cudahy, forfeited a bond of $19.20 when he failed to appear in court to answer to a charge of hunting in Waupaca County with a rifle.

Bonds of $19.25 were forfeited by five hunters who were arrested for carrying uncased guns in a car. They were Donald G. Mansavage, 24, 508 Prentice St., Stevens Point; Niel Laack, 28, West Allis; George S. Kupka, 36, Milwaukee; Clarence Gillett, 26, Milwaukee, and Edward D. Srolok, 27, Milwaukee.

Clifford Mosey, 50, N. 66th St., Stevens Point, forfeited a bond of $31.50 for transporting a loaded gun in a car.

Dr. Klofanda Honored by Veterinarians

CHILTON — Dr. Royal Klofanda, 216 Reed St., was honored last week by the Northeastern Veterinarian Association with a lifetime membership in the association.

Dr. Klofanda, a Chilton civic leader, has served the county as a veterinarian for 49 years and has been active in revamping the county fair and forming the Royal Farm Museum to be located on the Hiawatha Pioneer Municipal Court Wednesday, but Trail.

In 1963 he was cited by the Chilton Chamber of Commerce as the city's "Man of the Year."

Dr. Klofanda served as president of the Wisconsin Veterinarian Association during the 1940's.

9-10 (Channel 4-5) — Something familiar, something peculiar, something for everyone—that's The NBC Follies, a musical special with a bright new format that doesn't depend on a big name host or a fancy theme. Sandwiched between Steve Lawrence's up-tempo tribute to "Those Cotton Fields Back Home" and a spry patter song, "Good Advice," are a slew of song-and-dance numbers and blackout sketches employing Jill St. John, Juliet Prowse, Nipsey Russell and Allan Sherman. 6:30-7:30 (Channel 4-5) — Since everything else has taken to the ice, why not the "Old World"? The Hungarian Ice Revue on International Showtime has done just that by staging a village fiesta complete with cavalymen and czardas on blades keeping time to the lilting music of Kalman and Lehar.

7:30-8 (Channel 11) — The Addams Family, hardly typical Americans, are paid a visit by some touring foreign VIPs, who sound (but are not identified) as Russians who want to get an inside scoop on U. S. homelife.

7:30-8:30 (Channel 4-5) — "Parties to the Crime" on Bob Hope Presents is one of those tales about a likeable but habitual criminal everybody is out to salvage whether he wants to be saved or not. In this case, it's Jeffrey Hunter, an embittered parolee set to rob the San Joaquin Mission post office. (COLOR)

7:30-8:30 (Channel 2) — The Entertainers still appears in a state of dismay ever since its top banana, Carol Burnett, went on sick call. The show is bits-and-pieces of pre-taped sketches and songs, and looks it.

8:30-9 (Channel 2) — Gomer Pyle—USMC is at its brittle best as Jim Nabors is drafted into escorting his colonel's daughter to a base dance. It takes all the energy of Frank Sutton, his "Arthur Murray" top-kick, to bolster his confidence.

8:30-9 (Channel 4-5) — After all these years—at least 30—Rochester (Eddie Anderson) is in fear of being replaced as the housekeeper on The Jack Benny Show.

8:30-9:30 (Channel 11)—12 O'Clock High reschedules an episode, "Interlude," which it promised a couple of weeks back. General Savage (Robert Lansing) finally takes a holiday from the war and in turn meets a delectable English Wren (Dana Wynter).

Elvis Presley, Sings, swings and fights in his portrayal of a carnival worker in the movie "Roustabout" currently playing at the Viking Theater in Appleton and Rauff in Oshkosh. Actress Joan Freeman plays opposite Elvis as his romantic co-star. Barbara Stanwyk plays the carnival owner and Leif Erickson the manager.

Thanksgiving Parades Open Holiday Season

Commercials for Next 28 Days Will be Full of Holly, Evergreens, Carolers

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP) — Santa Claus officially arrived in the nation's assorted towns yesterday, courtesy of CBS, and NBC's reports of various Thanksgiving Day parades.

For the next 28 days, television viewers may just as well reconcile themselves to commercials which are chock full of holly, evergreens, carolers in blizzards of cornflake snow merrily decking the halls with bough and of proud daddies in cotton batting beards admiring electric razors, cameras and after-shave lotion.

Early 'Jingle Bells'
In truth, a number of sponsors have jumped the gun on Christmas commercials. The haunting sound of "jingle bells" was heard this year even before the Thanksgiving turkey was ordered. But most obeyed the unwritten rule and refrained from breaking out the yuletide messages until we had gotten through yesterday's celebration.

On Thanksgiving Day itself, most of the regularly scheduled programs were well prepared and the jolly hosts of the pre-taped game and panel shows greeted us with hearty good wishes, even though the members of the studio panel looked a bit bemused.

Highlights of the day were, as usual, the parades. NBC, as usual, focused its color cameras on the lavish New York celebration which was loaded with TV personalities, lots of bands and enormous gas-filled figures.

Fun for Youngsters
CBS popped around to show parades in New York, Philadelphia, Detroit and elsewhere, and although the sights weren't as interesting for color set owners, it was another delightful show for youngsters.

An easy-going musical program consisting of some all-time favorite songs was NBC's holiday special. It was timed for that early evening hour when the turkey has been eaten in most homes, when conversation has thinned out and when most people are ready for a relaxing hour.

"Alumni Fun"
Dean Martin, Eydie Gorme, a pair of stylish singers, and Al Hirt, a great man with a trumpet, did some rather nice things with numbers like "Sentimental Journey" and "Night and Day."

"Alumni Fun," which slipped unobtrusively into and out of CBS' Sunday afternoon schedule last season, will be back again starting Jan. 10. This time, however, the host will be Peter Lind Hayes instead of Clifton Fadiman.

It is a quiz show with teams of eminent alumni of various colleges competing for rewards on behalf of their alma maters.

Newspaper Report on 'Sneak Draft' Branded Erroneous by AFL

Top Prospects Among Supposed Draft Selections

BY MIKE RATHET

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Football League has branded as erroneous a newspaper report that the 5-year-old league held a "sneak draft" two weeks ago to get a jump on the draft three years ago, in violation of their agreement with the National Football League in the brewing battle for the top college football players in the country.

The story, which appeared in Friday's New York Daily News — one day before the rival leagues conduct their separate drafts at different sites in New York — was immediately denied by league and club officials.

Milt Woodard, the AFL's assistant commissioner, flatly stated the story was "erroneous, while pointing out that "our constitution and by-laws don't allow this. We have set a date for the draft and if we sign anybody before that we would have to void this type of agreement. The story is not true."

The Daily News story, written by Norm Miller, said "there are strong indications that the American Football League clubs already have held another sneak draft in an effort to beat the NFL to the best available college players."

List of Names

Accompanying the story was a club-by-club list of names that included such top-flight talent as Illinois linebacker Dick Butkus, halfback Gayle Sayers of Kansas, receiver Larry Elkins of Baylor and California quarterback Craig Morton.

Miller's story said the premature draft was "believed to have been conducted by phone nearly two weeks ago. At least one leading collegian already has been signed by an AFL team."

That new dish the National Football League dumped on the Detroit Lions' Thanksgiving table was no turkey.

The Lions, who had spent their last 12 Thanksgiving afternoons entertaining the Green Bay Packers, ordered Bear Thursday and went hungry. Chicago's dethroned NFL champions won the annual holiday game 27-24 on Roger Leclerc's 17-yard field goal with less than two minutes to play.

The loss knocked Detroit out of second place in the Western Conference. Baltimore, which already has clinched the Western title, seeks its 11th straight victory Sunday at San Francisco and Cleveland, leading the Eastern Conference by 1 1/2 games, plays host to Philadelphia.

Green Bay is at Dallas, St. Louis at Pittsburgh, Los Angeles at Minnesota and New York at Washington in Sunday's other games.

First Since 1949

The Bears-Lions meeting was their first on Thanksgiving Day since 1949. Detroit and Green Bay had filled the holiday bill after 1950 — when the New York Yankees visited the Motor City — and the Lions held a 9-3 series edge over the Packers. Green Bay, however, pulled out this year and a rotating schedule, led off by the Bears, was set up.

Rudy Bukich, Chicago's rifle-armed punter, gave the Bears a 21-17 halftime bulge Sunday with 12- for 13 pitting and three touch-down flips. After the Lions stifled in the second half and pulled even on Tom Watkins' third period touchdown run, Benny McRae set up the winning points by intercepting Detroit's Milt Plum in the closing minutes.

The Bears have won three in a row since Bukich replaced Bill Wade at quarterback. The 10-year veteran, who has seen service at Los Angeles and

Sprained Ankle Sidelines 6-6 Marquette Forward

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Marquette basketball team will be without the services of sophomore Dan Anderson, who had been scheduled to start for the Warriors in the season opener against St. Thomas in the Arena Tuesday night.

Anderson suffered a badly sprained ankle in drills Wednesday. Coach Al McGuire said Thursday.

"Anderson's ankle is swollen up like a balloon and he's been told to stay off it for several days," McGuire said. He added that Anderson may also miss the game with Louisville on Dec. 5.

"This is going to hurt us," said McGuire.

The 6-foot-6 Anderson, of Superior, was scheduled to start at forward, along with Tom Flynn. Paul Corbins had been picked to start at center and Bob Wolf and Dane Mathews at guards.

McGuire said that either Joel Pimka or Marty Holmes would replace Anderson, who was hurt going up for a rebound.

Assistant Coach Henry Raymond said that St. Thomas of St. Paul, Minn., "has a good first team but its reserves are weak." Raymond watched the St. Thomas varsity easily overwhelm the freshmen Tuesday night.

Kimberly Invades AHS Court; Xavier Makes Second FVCC Start Against Zephyr Quint

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN

Post-Crescent Sports Editor

The Appleton and Xavier High School basketball teams face threats to their unbeaten status in Saturday night home games against traditionally-strong Fox Cities rivals.

AHS (2-0) plays host to Kimberly (1-1) in a non-conference clash, while Xavier (5-0) meets Menasha St. Mary (1-2) in a Fox Valley Catholic Conference engagement.

The Terrors, who are starting their 11th and possibly final season of skirmishing with Kimberly (an enlarged conference schedule next season may eliminate non-league games) have lost five straight games to the Papermakers. Over-all, Kimberly teams coached by Gil Frank, Dave Genzmer and Gene Mason hold a 10-7 edge over Dick Emanuel-mentored Terror quints.

St. Mary's Bob Karisny and Xavier's Gene (Torchy) Clark hook up in the second year of their coaching rivalry. Last year, the Hawks beat the Zephyrs twice. In fact, as a 4-year school, Xavier has defeated St. Mary eight straight times. When Xavier was a 3-year school, it lost twice to the Zephyrs in the 1960-61 season.

Runs Well

Kimberly walloped AHS, 81-53, last season, to hand the Terrors one of their only three defeats in their 20-game season. Kimberly led, 38-31, at the half, then ran wild in the last two periods.

The typically-tall Papermakers have split their first two games of Mason's second season. Kimberly lost, 70-62, to a highly-rated Monroe team (Monroe has four of its regulars back from the club that gave state champion-to-be Dodgeville quite a run in the '64 tournament). The Papermakers downed St. John, 62-55, Wednesday night.

Comprising the Kimberly front line will be 6-foot-8 Chuck Mayer, 6-4 1/2 Jim VandenBoogaard and 6-4 Don Van Grinsven. The starting guards will be

Loss by Lions Gives Packers Second Place

Cowboys to Start John Roach at Quarterback Sunday

GREEN BAY (AP) — The Green Bay Packers were slay-at-homes on Thanksgiving for the first time since 1950, and moved into second place in the Western Division of the National Football League without touching a ball.

The Packers also were able to watch their own advancement simply by turning on a television set as the Chicago Bears defeated the Detroit Lions 27-24 in the annual Thanksgiving Day game in Detroit.

The defeat dropped the Lions into a third-place tie with Minnesota and Los Angeles. As Detroit gave up second place, the Packers took it over, but they can't go any higher. The Baltimore Colts have already clinched the Western Division title.

Playoff Bowl

However, a second place finish would give the Packers a second straight post-season trip to Florida for the Playoff Bowl game with the runnerup club in the Eastern Division.

The Packers, who had played in the Thanksgiving Day game at Detroit since 1951, will set about securing second place Sunday when they return to action Sunday, facing the Cowboys in Dallas.

The clubs have met only once in regular season play. That was in 1960 when the Packers won 41-7. Green Bay also has won four pre-season games.

The Cowboys are fifth in the Eastern Division on a 4-6-1 record while the Packers are 6-5.

The Cowboys will be at less than full strength for their game with the Packers. One of

Oshkosh Will Play Host to North Quint

The 1964-65 Fox River Valley Conference basketball race continues tonight when eight of the nine members take to the hard-court.

Oshkosh, with an opening game victory over Sheboygan South, plays host to Sheboygan North.

Fond du Lac travels to Green Bay West to battle the highly favored Wildcats. Appleton, the only other team with one loop victory, is idle this week. The Terrors will battle with Kimberly in a non-conference test Saturday.

Green Bay Southwest will form the opposition as pre-season favorit Manitowoc opens its FRVC season on its home court. Green Bay East treks to Sheboygan South.

Teams Will Meet in Orange Bowl

Alabama and Texas Record Victories

BY MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Alabama and Texas didn't wait for their Orange Bowl meeting to spring a surprise.

They unveiled a crucial play — the same one — in closing out their regular football season schedules with victories Thursday, Alabama trimming Auburn 21-14 and Texas whipping Texas A&M 26-7.

Following Alabama's 10th victory without a defeat, the Crimson Tide formally accepted an Orange Bowl bid everyone knew they already had received. Texas, 9-1, had accepted an invitation nearly two weeks ago.

In using the surprise play, second-ranked Alabama had help from Auburn's Mike Alford while Texas, No. 5 in the nation, received aid from Tom Murrah of Texas A&M. Both centers, Alford and Murrah, started the whole thing.

Over Punters' Heads

On fourth down and punt situations, Alford and Murrah snatched the ball back over the punters' heads. In Alabama's game on the schedule Army case, it resulted in the first and Navy meet in their traditouchdown of the game. For Texas, the errant play brought a tie-breaking safety that opened the way for a 19-point second half.

Auburn's Jim Kilgore was set to punt in the first quarter when the ball sailed over his head. He chased it back into the end zone and fell on it, but the ball squirted away and Steve Bowman dropped on it for a touchdown.

In the third quarter of the traditional Texas battle A&M's Phil Seogin was back to punt when the snaphack got by him. He recovered the ball but couldn't get out of the end zone.

There was only a handful of other Thanksgiving Day games. Tulsa defeated Wichita 21-7, Virginia Tech swamped Virginia Military 35-13, William and Mary walloped Richmond 33-13 and an East All-Star team defeated the West 19-12 in the Gem Bowl at Erie, Pa.

The college season all but fades completely Saturday with two of the season's biggest 23-yard scoring pass to Ray Perkins.

Texas A&M wasn't in the ional rivalry while Notre Dame tries to wrap up the national championship by making Southern California its 10th consecutive victim.

Also on tap are Miami-Florida, Georgia Tech-Georgia, Tennessee-Vanderbilt, Duke-Tulane, Oklahoma-Oklahoma State, Rice-Baylor, Texas Christian-Southern Methodist and Arizona-State-Arizona.

Coach Paul Bryant of Alabama challenges Notre Dame's right to the No. 1 spot.

"We think we are No. 1 because we came from behind in four big games to win," Bryant said after Thursday's games. "And if you'll check the schedule of other teams in the top 10, you'll find we played the toughest schedule of any team that is nationally ranked."

107-Yard Run

The Crimson Tide wrapped up its 10th triumph on a 107-yard touchdown run by Ray Ogden with the kickoff that started the second half and Joe Namath's 23-yard scoring pass to Ray Perkins.

Texas A&M wasn't in the

Volkman May Start

AHS, which has defeated Green Bay East (79-76) and Neenah (65-52), will sacrifice height and experience in the front line if Bob Ness is unable to start. Ness sat out Wednesday's game at Neenah because of an ankle injury, and his status for Saturday night is not certain.

In all likelihood, 5-11 Gary Volkman will start in the front court with 6-4 Neil Weber and 6-3 Bruce Miller if Ness doesn't start. John Mumme and Mark Tepper will open at the guards. Mumme leads Terror scorers with 41 points in the two games. Xavier's Paul Springer, also hampered by an ankle condition, is a questionable starter in Saturday's game. Steve Schmieder opened in the backcourt against Marinette Wednesday and will likely start again if Springer is unavailable.

The Hawks made an auspicious conference debut in defense of their title Wednesday. In winning five straight, overall, the Hawks have alleviated the fears of their fans who thought the loss of four regulars might seriously cut the Xavier court efficiency. Xavier has shown considerable bench strength to date. The usual starters, other than Springer or Schmieder, are Tom Rankin, Mike Heideman, Paul Rechner and Pete Vandenberg.

The Zephyrs, who will be opening PVCC play, have only two seniors among their top seven players. The likely starters are senior Kim Vanderhyden; juniors Dave Koerner and Mike Kettenhofen and sophomores Mike Heroux and Jeff Wirth.

Three Pro Teams Set Sights on Jerry Rhome

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A also set season and career and accuracy records. Twilley set pass received records and missed by two points being the first end ever to lead college scorers.

Three professional teams will be waving dollars at Rhome, the Tulsa University star who wrapped up 17 individual records this season, after he ends his college career Dec. 19 in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

Rhome, a close runner-up to Notre Dame's John Huarte for the Heisman Trophy, hasn't indicated any preference so far. But he's a Dallas boy and the Cowboys of the National Football League seem most enthusiastic.

Rhome could fit "very well into our plans," Cowboy Coach Tom Landry said.

Great Combination
"Jerry Rhome would be invaluable to us. He's a fine quarterback and would give us a great combination with (Don) Meredith."

Coach Weeb Ewbank of the American League New York Jets had questioned Rhome's height of six feet as being small. But he said Rhome "had a fine record this year" and "we are interested in any football player who can help us."

Neither coach seemed worried about the price.

Rhome also has been drafted by Calgary in the Canadian Football League.

Rhome and junior end Howard Twilley combined to set 21 national records this year and helped Tulsa to nine team marks.

Rhome consolidated in his name passing and offense records that had been held by 13 different stars. He broke single game season and career records for pass completions, passing yardage, and touchdown passes. He also established a record of 187 completions without an interception — and had only four pickoffs in 326 throws. He Season passes are available for all home games from any member of the squad or at Jerry's Lanes.

Final Weekend Approaches

Total Deer Take Expected To Reach 85,000 Figure

MADISON (AP) — The nine-day Wisconsin deer hunting season approaches the final weekend of shooting with the Conservation Department forecasting a total bag of about 85,000 animals. The kill in a similar nine-day, 1963 season was 65,000. In its latest report Wednesday, the department said the bag for the first five days of the season was 52,000 deer from a herd of about 500,000. The department credited strategic use of quotas, a healthy herd and good hunting conditions for the increased bag throughout the state.

The registration station for the west central section reported a kill of 21,000, an increase of 34 per cent over last year. The bag in the east central section was 6,969, a boost of 35 per cent. The northwest station registered a kill of 11,000, an increase of 25 per cent. The northeast station recorded 9,253, a boost of 10 per cent. The registration for the southern section was up 10 per cent to 4,655. The department also said that 115 bears had been registered. The largest was a 636-pound trophy shot near Port Wing in Ashland County. The department said there were 487 arrests and 533 illegal deer seized in the first five Des Schade fired a 234 game and 622 series Wednesday night to lead the Veterans League at the 41 Bowl.

Fox Tractor (25-11) leads Neumann Lettering by one game.

Gus Steffens took runnerup honors with a 616 series and other honor scores included Bob Kirk, 551; Bob Wogland, 573; Dick Prasher, 557; Dick Brautigam, 565; Henry Mueller, 598; Wayne Rehmer, 580; Robert McGlin, 229 and 570; Jim Braun, 589; Don Houdek, 568; and Wayne Kundiger, 561.

Jerry Schwalenberg ramed a 605 series to pace the Industrial League at Hahn's Lanes Wednesday night. Knoke Lumber Company (25-11) leads the league and other honor scores included Ron Brei-trick, 583; "Baldy" Eggert, 571; B. Bessette, 564; Len Kunstman, 560; W. Klein, 554; Cy Anderson, 554; B. Hannemann, 552 and D. Larson, 550.

Orme Slach cracked a 231 game and Mendy Zussman had a 593 series to share honors in the Fraternal League at Hahn's Wednesday night. AAL No. 3 and Home Mutual (33-15) are tied for the league lead. Others with honor counts included Bruce Robertson, 571; Dave Grundemann, 568; Don Tremel, 565; Werner Stranghoer, 551; Jim Hauert, 550 and Harry Grady, 225.

Two runs brought the ball to the 13 before Plum connected with Barr, who broke in between the goal posts. The Lions scored their last first half touchdown with a second remaining, Plum pitching to Gibbons, who made a one-handed catch.

Appleton JVs Tip Neenah, Duel Kimberly Next

NEENAH — A 5-point edge in the fourth period gave Appleton Jayvees a 47-42 triumph over Neenah Wednesday night. It was the second straight win for the Junior Terrors, who play host to Kimberly Saturday night.

The score was tied, 22-21, at halftime and 36-36 at the close of three segments but the junior Terrors collected 11 points in the final segment while Neenah was limited to three field goals.

Neenah led, 40-38, but the visitors made six straight points for a 44-40 edge with a minute left. Larry Handler's basket cut the difference to two points but Gary Lutz put in a free throw with 19 seconds remaining. He missed the bonus attempt and after two tips Mike McCullon dropped in the third.

McCullon and Lutz each had 17 points for the winners, while Gary Losse hit 16 for the junior Rockets.

Expect 80,000 for Irish-Trojan Tilt

Notre Dame Seeks to Close Season With Perfect Record

BY BOB MYERS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The undefeated, untied Notre Dame football team is due in late today, setting the stage for its annual struggle with the Southern California's Trojans in one of the nation's finest series.

This will be the 36th meeting between the schools, dating back to 1926 in the great years of the late Knute Rockne and Howard Jones, and a crowd of 80,000 or more is expected to swarm into Memorial Coliseum.

There have been years, particularly in the recent ones when the Fighting Irish fortunes were in decline and Southern Cal's in and out, when prestige only kept alive widespread interest.

Not so this late autumn. Coach Ara Parseghian has regrouped the forces of Notre Dame into a squad that has captured the fancy of the country — along with nine straight games in the school's most successful season since 1949.

Perfect Season
Today Notre Dame is one battle away from matching that year, with a perfect season and the national collegiate championship at hand.

Quarterback John Huarte and the Irish offensive team, and linebacker Jim Carroll and the defense, have come a long way from the dismal season of 1963 when their record was seven defeats and only two victories.

Southern Cal's Trojans, national champions two years ago, are rationally relegated to the role of the underdog, with a 6-3 record for the season.

But quarterback Craig Fertig, halfback Mike Garrett, the team's leading runner, and all the other Trojans are geared for high pressure football.

The Trojans have a lot at stake, too — the possibility of playing in the Rose Bowl.

Southern Cal and Oregon State University finished in a tie, 3-1, in the so-called Pacific Athletic Conference. Oregon State finished the season last week with an over-all record of 8-2.

The conference decided to hold off naming either school for the Rose Bowl until after Saturday's game here. What effect the outcome will have, win or lose for Troy, remains to be seen.

Coach John McKay of the Trojans has no doubts. If the team loses, there'll be no bowl. Game records and statistics, all favor the Irish. Man for man they are bigger, but mobile. They have scored 270 points and held the opposition to 57.

The Trojans have scored 187 points, their opponents 113. There were no surprises in the starting teams on offense. Huarte will have Bill Wolski and Nick Eddy as his halfbacks, and Joe Kantor replaces the injured Joe Farrell at fullback.

It will be Fertig, a skilled run-pass option performer, Garrett, sophomore Rod Sherman and Ron Heiler in the Trojan backfield.

Huarte's favorite pass target is Jack Snow; Fertig has ve Moton.

Holiday Fire
Loss Estimated
At $300,000

Fire Marshals
Asked to Aid in Investigations

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
At least a half dozen fires broke out in scattered sections of Wisconsin Thanksgiving Day, causing combined damage of more than $300,000. There were only a few minor injuries.

Damage was estimated at $250,000 after an early morning fire swept a restaurant in the Milwaukee area community of Hales Corners.

Cabinet Shop
Fire of undetermined origin burned out a cabinet shop in Prairie du Chien Thursday night. The loss was estimated unofficially at $30,000.

The fire at Clifford's restaurant in Hales Corners raged out of control for more than three hours as it was battled by firemen from eight communities. The blaze, of undetermined origin, shot flames 100 feet into the air. Fire officials said it started in a second-floor dining room and called in state fire marshals to aid in the investigation.

The loss was estimated by owner Clifford A. Schill, who said a $70,000 addition to the two-story brick and frame structure had only recently been completed.

The interior of the Prairie City Cabinet Shop, on Highway 35 on the south side of Prairie du Chien was burned out, and machinery was damaged extensively or destroyed.

The 40 by 100 foot, single-story building was of frame construction.

The fire was discovered by a police officer who had stopped for supper at his home, only a short distance away.

A large L-shaped barn a grainery and a milk house on the Clarence Korourek farm at rural Two Rivers were destroyed by fire Thursday afternoon. Firemen from Two Rivers, Rockwood and Fancie Creek fought the blaze in biting cold.

Billowing smoke could be seen in Manitowish, about eight miles away.

Japanese Train
Crash Kills 2

SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — Two women passengers were killed and 47 other persons injured tonight when a six-coach rush-hour commuter train traveling through fog smashed into a garbage truck and derailed.

A second six-coach train crashed into the truck minutes later, and also derailed.

All the casualties were on the first train, which was traveling on the main north-south line of Japan's northern island of Hokkaido.

Police said the driver and another occupant of the truck tried desperately to warn the oncoming train with flares after their vehicle stalled on a crossing on the outskirts of Sapporo, but the warning apparently was not seen because of the fog.

Cautious Expansion of Viet Nam War Expected

Basic Policy Decisions May Come From Conferences With Taylor, Rusk and McNamara

BY JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration appears to be moving reluctantly toward a decision to undertake a cautious expansion of the anti-Communist war in Viet Nam in the hope of brightening the currently dim prospects for a peaceful settlement.

Talks beginning here today among Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, and other officials are likely to lead to basic policy decisions by President Johnson next week.

Johnson and other top administration officials are reported to have divided feelings about Viet Nam strategy between sticking to continuing the war almost entirely to South Viet Nam, and making some strikes to the north.

Returned to Capitol
Taylor, who returned to Washington Thursday, is known to believe that the time for new decisions is at hand. Furthermore he sees some advantages in authorizing and promptly undertaking air strikes either against Communist supply lines from North Viet Nam to South Viet Nam through the neighboring kingdom of Laos, or against Communist concentration points for men and supplies in the north.

Taylor recently declared that the outcome of the conflict is now "very much in doubt."

But he said he thought attacks on targets in Red-held territory would probably make the Chinese and North Vietnamese Communist leadership realize that the conquest it seeks in the south will become too expensive because of impending damage in the north.

The ambassador is reported to believe that such attacks might thus compel the Hanoi regime to reconsider its policies and enter into negotiations on terms more favorable to South Viet Nam than are now considered possible.

Another benefit Taylor is believed to see in strikes to the north is that they might have a heartening effect upon military and anti-Communist elements in the south.

Government instability has been for months one of the most serious problems in South Viet Nam. Though Taylor praised the "courage and determination" of the new civilian premier, Tran Van Huong, authorities here say the situation will get increasingly desperate unless the new regime can demonstrate it can command and enlist support from such political powerful groups as students and Buddhists.

Against these benefits of a possible escalation, or step-up of the war, the President and his advisers must weigh the possibility that such moves may provoke responses from North Viet Nam's regular military forces and even from those of Communist China.

The Soviet Union injected its own warning into the Vietnamese situation Thursday but failed to stir up any concern or even very much interest in government quarters here.

A statement by the Soviet news agency Tass declared that persons who "harbor adventurous plans" for Southeast Asia "should understand that the Soviet Union cannot remain indifferent to the fate of a fraternal Socialist country and is ready to render the necessary assistance."

Upon his arrival at Andrews Air Force Base Taylor denied reports which had preceded him here from Saigon that he would present a plan to President Johnson for extending military operations to the north and would resign unless Johnson accepts the plan.

Enlisted for Duration
"So far as I'm concerned I've enlisted in this war for the duration," Taylor said, implying that whether he stays on is not his decision but the President's.

Johnson and Taylor are expected to meet Sunday or Monday after the President returns from his extended visit to his Texas ranch. Advance word was that Johnson would play an active role in the discussions preceding any policy decisions.

There were strong indications that McNamara remains the President's chief adviser on Viet Nam. This view stemmed from the disclosure that the State Department's two top men — Rusk and Undersecretary George W. Ball — will be out of Washington during at least part of the discussions on Viet Nam.

Ball leaves tonight for a visit to France and England to discuss economic and military problems confronting the Atlantic alliance, while Rusk leaves for New York Monday to confer with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and other ministers in advance of Tuesday's opening of the U.N. General Assembly.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — Thanksgiving was something of a problem for Mrs. Stephen C. Marchant. The family turnout of 58 was so large she had to use the VFW Hall.

Star Rescues
Indian From Bhutan Area

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — It was all those guns that got me," said Shirley MacLaine. "I felt that if we accidentally tripped on a stone they might go off."

The Hollywood star told here Thursday of her experience with border guards as she tried to smuggle an Indian citizen out of troubled Bhutan. She said she was "tearing mad."

The Himalayan kingdom is reported to be in a state of unrest after the defection and flight last weekend of its deputy army chief of staff, Brig. Ugyen Tangbi, and other officials and their families.

Guest of Official
The film star said she went to Bhutan on Nov. 18 as a guest of Lhendup Dorji, Bhutan's acting prime minister who reportedly is now in London. She said a message from a Bhutanese official warned her last Sunday that "real trouble is brewing."

Miss MacLaine said she and a party of six decided to leave at once for India. They tried to take with them K. S. Bhalla, an Indian working as Lhendup Dorji's private secretary.

But the border guards wouldn't let Bhalla through, even when Miss MacLaine tried to emphasize that she was Dorji's guest.

"Lhendup Dorji's orders no longer hold good in Bhutan," she was told.

Miss MacLaine said that she made an unsuccessful attempt to get Bhalla out, disguised as the chauffeur of her luggage jeep. She also tried to scare the

Passengers Describe
Impact of Two Ships

BY RICHARD F. WHALEN
NEW YORK (AP) — A rending crash split the tanker, Aadvar Olsen, who had been asleep in his bunk, suddenly found himself swimming for life in the cold Atlantic.

A jolting shudder shook the liner Shalom. It knocked passengers to the dance floor.

"I heard a grinding sound," said Samuel Gerson of Wynne-field, Pa. "I thought we might have hit a big whale or something. I never thought it would be another ship."

"I was sleeping," said Shelley Mangel of Philadelphia. "I heard the jolt. I jumped up and looked out the porthole. I saw the sinking ship. Water was all over it. It looked like a submarine. I looked but I couldn't see anyone around, either in the ship or in the water. Then, I went back to bed."

On Dance Floor
"I was dancing with my wife, Barbara," said Stephen Tannenbaum, a New York City pharmacist.

PARIS (AP) — Physicians attending the four surviving Sambar quintuplets reported today that two of them are having trouble breathing.

A Ministry of Health bulletin said: "For the four children the battle for life continues. Its outcome remains unforeseeable."

Passengers Describe
Impact of Two Ships

BY RICHARD F. WHALEN
NEW YORK (AP) — A rending crash split the tanker, Aadvar Olsen, who had been asleep in his bunk, suddenly found himself swimming for life in the cold Atlantic.

A jolting shudder shook the liner Shalom. It knocked passengers to the dance floor.

"I heard a grinding sound," said Samuel Gerson of Wynne-

field, Pa. "I thought we might have hit a big whale or something. I never thought it would be another ship."

"I was sleeping," said Shelley Mangel of Philadelphia. "I heard the jolt. I jumped up and looked out the porthole. I saw the sinking ship. Water was all over it. It looked like a submarine. I looked but I couldn't see anyone around, either in the ship or in the water. Then, I went back to bed."

Series of Blasts Rock Terre Haute

Explosions Take 22 Lives in City Called 'Boomtown, USA'

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP) — Some call it Boom Town, U.S.A. Gas, paint fumes, even air have become sudden assassins in the series of explosions which have rocked Terre Haute for the last 22 months. The toll stands at 22 dead and 106 injured.

Gerald Fagg, a workman who survived the worst of the city's seven explosions, says, "When they get to talking about it, one thing keeps coming up — Who'll be next?"

The prevailing trend of thought among the 72,000 residents of this western Indiana city seems to be an effort to forget the thread of tragedy in hope it will end.

Tank Truck

A gasoline tank truck driver, John Vermillion, said, "You know, a fellow learns not to think about these things in this put kind of work."

Fagg and 200 other employees at the Home Packing Co. plant along the Wabash River were reporting to work the morning after New Year's Day, 1963, when an explosion ripped apart the brick packing house. Seven—teen died, 51 were injured.

A fire marshal's report blamed the blast on leaking gas. The Terre Haute Gas Corp., a privately owned utility, made a $1.65-million settlement on 64 personal damage suits.

Gas Fumes

A month later, explosions occurred two days apart in separate residential districts. They left 23 more injured. Gas fumes lingered in the air.

A boiler explosion traced to paint fumes killed two workmen and injured another at a power plant that summer. In September 1963, an air compressor exploded at a fertilizer plant, killing one man and injuring nine others.

A crew was welding a pipeline this summer when gas again exploded its toll — two dead and five hospitalized. The latest blast, Oct. 20 came as gas workmen were installing a meter in the basement of a store. The building was leveled and 17 fire persons were injured.

Mine Explosion

In the midst of this, a $34-million fire consumed a dozen businesses along Terre Haute's main street — Wabash Avenue.

But Fesler says, "The gas — last year. Another explosion had killed 22 in a coal mine, since closed for safety reasons, trying to find bad spots. They've northwest of Terre Haute in been busy recently replacing mains."

Mayor Ralph Tucker calls it a run of bad luck.

"I don't think there's any connection between all of them," he says of the explosions. "We have had tragedies before and we've come out bigger and better."

Asst. Fire Chief Frank Klamp adds, "It's just the way the ball bounces."

Inspection Program

The city has an extensive fire prevention and inspection program, but four of the explosions have been traced in official reports to gas mains buried underground. "When we inspect, it doesn't do a bit of dents of this western Indiana city seems to be an effort to forget the thread of tragedy in hope it will end."

Of the three blasts in early 1963, Klamp says, "I've seen some of the gas mains they've dug up. These were good mains. The ground froze down deep and think about these things in this put kind of work."

But Fesler says after the latest blast in sunny autumn weather, "This one is upsetting along the Wabash River were reporting to work the morning after New Year's Day, 1963, when an explosion ripped apart the brick packing house. Seven—teen died, 51 were injured."

Mayor Ralph Tucker calls it a run of bad luck.

"I don't think there's any in improvements and maintenance this year.

"The system is in very good shape and there is no particular reason for the people of Terre Haute to be concerned," he said.

Fagg, 22, was buried in the rubble of the packing house. His body was pinned, except for his left arm. He finally thrust his hand through the surface and clutched the ankle of a rescue worker standing above him.

Never Forget

"I still dream about it," he says. "It's something you never forget."

Fagg was standing only two feet from John J. Callahan, 24, who was killed in the blast seven days after he became engaged. His mother, Mary Callahan, a widow, says of the city's chain of calamity, "I really don't know what to think."

She pauses, then adds, "It's a ghastly thing. It makes you think — about what might be in the future."

Lucey Outlines Seven Proposals To Save Money

MADISON (AP)— Democratic Lt. Gov.-elect Patrick J. Lucey has outlined "seven money-saving proposals," which, he said, would bring new efficiency to Wisconsin's government.

The proposals have either been discussed or defeated by previous Legislatures.

The suggestions were contained in a letter to Republican Gov.-elect Warren P. Knowles. Lucey wrote:

"I am sure that you will find that the Democratic party will join you in renewed efforts to pass the efficiency measures," and called for:

Abolishment of dummy building corporations, and preparation of a constitutional amendment to create "an honest debt policy with clear limitations upon state bonding programs."

State agency consolidation "from more than 80 to 20 or less."

Executive reorganization power "subject to the veto of a majority of either legislative house."

A local government study committee, centralized purchasing, the offer of state assistance to local governments in handling management functions and four-year terms for state constitutional officers.

Woman and Three Children Are Killed

WELLINGTON, Kan. (AP) — A young Oklahoma mother and three of her children were killed Thursday night when their car rammed under a parked truck on the Kansas Turnpike about six miles south of Wellington.

The Turnpike Patrol identified the victims as Joan Judd, 24, of Blackwell, Okla., and her 18-month-old daughter, Terna Jo, and her sons, Glen Dale, 3, and Vern Raymond, 7.

Another son, Cera Judd, 5, was hospitalized in Wellington. He was reported in fair condition.

The husband and father was at the home in Blackwell when the accident occurred, the patrol said.

Today in History

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, Nov. 27, the 332nd day of 1964. There are 34 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1746, Robert Livingston — statesman, jurist and member of the Continental Congress—was born. Livingston negotiated the Louisiana Purchase and was associated with Robert Fulton in steamboat development.

On this date

In 1868, the Battle of Ouachita, Ark., was fought. Gen. George Custer trailed a war party under Chief Black Kettle to his Indian camp and annihilated the force there.

In 1873, the Hoosac Tunnel in Massachusetts, the first great tunnel in America, was completed. Work had started in 1855.

In 1919, Bulgaria signed a peace treaty yielding territory to Greece and Yugoslavia.

In 1940, French warships were scuttled at Toulon.

Ten years ago — Alger Hiss was released from the Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary after serving a 44 months term for perjury.

Five years ago — The U.N. General Assembly was in recess, with a vote scheduled Dec. 1 on a deadlock over choosing either Turkey or Poland for a Security Council seat.

One year ago — President Johnson addressed a joint session of Congress, calling for enactment of President John F. Kennedy's program.

Hiawatha Trail Officers Picked

MADISON (AP)— Announcement was made of the election of officers of the newly incorporated Hiawatha Pioneer trail Council of Wisconsin. The group was set up to coordinate promotion of the state's segment of the trail, a 2,000 mile tourist route through Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota.

Jack Gray of Wisconsin Dells was named president and S. Vance Dawson of Whitewater and Robert Graves of Spring Green vice presidents. James E. Shepeck of Green Bay was chosen treasurer and Keith Hinsman of Madison executive director.

Directors will be selected in the spring.

U. S. Protests Mob Attack by Africans At Cairo Embassy

Kennedy Memorial Library Burned by Student Rioters

BY GEORGE MCARTHUR
CAIRO (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Lucius Battle today made a strong protest to the Egyptian government against the burning of the John F. Kennedy memorial library at the U.S. Embassy in a riotous demonstration by African students.

He asked for full compensation for the library and other damage. A Marine barracks also was burned Thursday by the mob of African students, screaming anti-American slogans and protesting the U.S.-Belgian rescue of white hostages in the Congo.

Critical of Police
The protest was delivered to Acting Foreign Minister Farid Abou Shadi. It was reported Shadi expressed regrets but in a matter of fact manner that left the embassy dissatisfied.

An embassy spokesman said the protest expressed dissatisfaction with the handling of the African student mob by police because prompt police action

John Cayo, 26, Dies in Flames Of Small House

Authorities Trying to Determine Cause of Early Morning Fire

A foot-by-foot inspection of a small frame house on Appleton's south side began about 9:30 a.m. today to determine cause of a fire which caused the death of the dwelling's lone occupant.

The victim of flames which completely engulfed the house at 237 E. Murray St. was John Cayo, 26, who, neighbors said, had been living alone in the home for about one year.

Cayo's charred body was found by firemen about 2:30 a.m. after flames had been extinguished sufficiently enough to allow them to enter the house. The body was found face down about two feet from a bedroom window. Debris from the ceiling and walls partially covered the body.

Identification Tags
Identification was made by a brother, Robert, of Neenah, and from Army identification tags on the body.

A passing motorist, Robert Cavert, 1016 S. Walden Ave., saw the house ablaze about 2 a.m. He stopped his car and sent a friend to arouse neighbors and summon the fire department. Cavert attempted to enter the building by smashing in a rear door, but was driven back by flames.

Firemen from stations on N. Oneida and S. Lawe streets said flames lit up the sky and could be seen for a half-mile.

Investigators today are attempting to determine if an oil space heater in the small living room exploded, sending flames up the wallboard interior to the ceiling.

Flames in the living room had licked through the ceiling and the entire west wall of the house was aflame when firemen arrived.

Craft Cut In Half by Israeli Ship

BY FRANCIS STI-LEY
NEW YORK (AP) — Nineteen crewmen of a Norwegian tanker are dead or missing from a Thanksgiving Day tragedy in which their vessel was sliced in two by an Israeli luxury liner heading out on a carefree Caribbean cruise.

The collision occurred 18 miles off the New Jersey Coast shortly after 2 a.m. Thursday in dense fog.

The stern quarter of the tanker sank in the pall of darkness and fog. Water poured into the liner's bow compartments, which were sealed off.

An air-sea rescue operation was quickly put in motion.

Clad variously in nightdress or ballroom attire, many of the cruise liner's 616 passengers raced to decks to watch through the mist.

Some Suffer Shock
Eventually, 24 of the tanker's 43-member crew were snatched from the seas, from swamped lifeboats and from the barely floating forward section of the vessel. Among them were a stewardess — the lone woman aboard — and the tanker's captain.

Some of the men saved from the sea were only partially clad. They were oil-smeared, blue with cold and in some cases insensible from shock.

As time wore on through a gray dawn, the Atlantic yielded 13 bodies. A massive daylong search of the area finally was called off at sundown without any trace of six men still missing.

The vessels involved were the $20-million liner Shalom, pride of the Israeli merchant fleet and its seven-month-old flagship, and the 12,723-ton Norwegian tanker Stolt Dagali.

Government Troops Move Across River to Hunt Reds

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Snipers' bullets still whistled through Stanleyville today as government troops pushed across the Congo River after the main rebel force.

"Stanleyville is under control, but all resistance has not been eliminated," said an American Embassy spokesman.

Soldiers Seeking 100 Accused of Plot in Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — Federal soldiers searched today through the interior city of Goiania for more than 100 persons accused of involvement in a Communist-backed plot against the Brazilian government.

Army Col. Carlos Meira Matos Thursday led the troops into Goiania, capital of Goias State, and deposed Gov. Mauro Borges. The war ministry said he was the center of a "subversive focal point." Matos was named temporary administrator.

The Brazilian Congress has 60 days in which to ratify the action or Borges will be restored to office.

Borges was carried from the palace on the shoulders of supporters and disappeared after urging the people to "stay calm and await the decision of Congress." The governor had obtained a writ of habeas corpus from the Supreme Court prohibiting his arrest.

Traffic Toll Increased to Record 962

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Highway crashes in Wisconsin since the start of the Thanksgiving holiday period have claimed three lives, raising the state's record single-year toll to 962, compared with 805 on this date a year ago.

Edward J. Dzioba, 55, of Kenosha was injured fatally Thursday night when knocked down by one car and run over by another going in the same direction as he crossed Highway 32 about two miles south of Kenosha.

Mrs. Tillie Hansen, 67, of Milwaukee was killed Thursday afternoon when struck by a car on Milwaukee's South Side.

Carl Dustmann, 73, of Milwaukee died Thursday when his car overturned in a ditch after leaving an icy town road just north of Gresham in Shawano County.

Lee R. Bergner, 43, a partner in a Green Bay television repair business, was killed late Wednesday when his panel truck overturned in a ditch after leaving Highway 101 north of Armstrong Creek in Forest County.

Mrs. Anna Schmitz, 79, of La Crosse was killed late Wednesday when a car driven by her husband and a station wagon collided on Highway 33 about 10 miles east of La Crosse.

Huong Winner in Test of Strength

Plans for Demonstrations in Saigon Fail to Develop

BY JOHN T. WHEELER
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Tran Van Huong's declaration of martial law and his obvious intention to crush antigovernment riots with bullets if necessary appeared today to have won the scrappy leader a first round victory over his militant opponents.

Predicted mass demonstrations failed to materialize Thursday and today. The powerful Buddhist leadership apparently was shying away from a showdown in the streets, at least for the present.

The National Buddhist Institute was closed by barbed wire strung up by the Buddhists. Signs proclaimed there would be no demonstrations today.

Tries to Unify Opposition
Armed police broke up a news conference given by Nguyen Xuan Chau, former chairman of the National High Council. He announced the merging of 18 political parties and student groups into a national revolutionary committee pledged to destroy Huong's three-week-old government.

A maze of barbed wire was removed from around the palace of chief of state Phan Khanh Sui. But troops were on the alert to crush any renewal of the demonstrations which were staged daily from Sunday through Wednesday. Huong proclaimed martial law Wednesday night.

The key to Huong's position continued to be the support of the military. It is still smarting over the collapse of military rule in August, when tough action was not taken against rioting mobs until too late.

Blames Communists
Huong in a broadcast said the Communist Viet Cong had played a role in the riots and that they were fomented by "groups of irresponsible people (who) have either innocently or deliberately fallen in with Communist plans and incited the most unoccupied and innocent sectors of the population."

Huong said 86 members of the security forces and nearly all policemen were injured in Wednesday's melee. He did not

Kenyatta Asks Unity in Congo

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Prime Minister Jomo Kenyatta today called for "efforts at reconciliation" between Premier Moise Tshombe's Congo government and the rebels.

Opening a commission meeting of the Organization of African Unity on the Congo problem, Kenyatta conceded he had no knowledge whether the eastern Congo rebels "still exist as a coherent force."

In a surprisingly mild statement, Kenyatta said the commission was at a loss in dealing with the problem at this stage. He suggested that perhaps a new mandate with broader powers should be given the 10-power commission by the parent organization group of independent African states.

Rumors Heard of Peron's Return

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Speculation that former Argentine President Juan D. Peron soon will attempt his promised return home was heightened today by a letter Peron wrote to the head of Gen. Francisco Franco's military household.

Jose Manuel Algarbe, Peron's private secretary, said the ex-dictator wrote L. Gen. Jose Samaniego y Gomez de Bonilla expressing "his appreciation for attentions given to him during his stay in Spain."

Algarbe said he was sure Peron is sticking to his announced plan to return to Argentina this year.

Sources said Peron might fly early in December to Asuncion, Paraguay, on the first stage of his return to Argentina. He has lived in exile in Madrid since January 1960.

Bystanders Refuse to Interfere as Man Hits Woman With Wrench

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two men and a woman uttered not a word nor moved a muscle as they stood 15 feet from a man assaulting a 39-year-old Pacific Palisades woman with a wrench, the victim told police.

Corene Griffin suffered numerous body bruises and had to have six stitches taken in a head wound. After she escaped she demanded of the bystanders: "Why?"

"We thought it was a private matter, maybe a husband and wife fight," the woman witness said. "How were we to know what it was all about?"

Mrs. Griffin said she left an opera in Shrine Auditorium late Wednesday night because she didn't feel well. She went to her car — parked under a street light in a service station near the auditorium — and lay down.

She said she dozed off and was awakened by her assailant, who drove off in her car after she managed to get out of it.

2 Boys Drown After Raft Hits Bridge, Tips Over in Louisiana

NATCHITOCHE, La. (AP) — The survivors of a tragic outing on the Red River had Thanksgiving dinner at a hospital here and then boarded a bus to ride back to Dallas, Tex.

The bodies of two boys who drowned when a raft capsized after smashing into a bridge piling here Wednesday night were recovered Thursday.

The two, Danny Tedford, 15, and Joe Warren, 11, were among nine boys from a camp for underprivileged youths near Dallas who were floating down the Red River with two adult counselors.

Sheriff Sam James said the bodies were found tangled in driftwood about a quarter-mile below the Grand Ecore Bridge.

The other surviving boys, ranging in age from 12 to 16, were Robert Cartney, Danny Sieber, Steven Seitz, Roy Lafon and Lee Wright. The counselors were Gerald Bible of Cisco, Tex., and Ken Edgar of Tyler, Tex.

4 Die, 10 Hurt in Iowa Accidents

FORT DODGE, Iowa (AP) — Two carloads of Fort Dodge teen-agers cracked up in separate accidents Thursday night while returning from a wedding reception at nearby Duncombe, leaving four dead and 10 injured.

Injured in one car which ran through a dead end intersection were Frederick Joseph Wickman, the driver, Tony Sanders and Russell Witte, each 17. Three boys with them were hospitalized.

An hour after this accident a car containing six boys and two girls rolled off U.S. Highway 20 about nine miles east of Fort Dodge. Terry Taylor, 17, was killed and four other boys in this car were taken to the Fort Dodge Lutheran Hospital. The girls and another boy were treated and released.

Refugees Lose Way but Find Safety in West

BRUNSWICK, Germany (AP) — Two East German refugees lost their way among the barbed wire barriers along the Iron Curtain border and by mistake doubled back into Communist territory, Western border police reported today.

The refugees, a 41-year-old teacher and a 27-year-old farm worker, finally managed to get across the border — unseen by East German guards — after wandering around the barriers in the dark Thursday night.

Brandt Picks Cabinet To Serve if He Wins

KARLSRUHE, Germany (AP) — West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt, leader of the opposition Social Democrats, named members of a Shadow Cabinet today that would take office if his party wins West Germany's general election next September.

Brandt presented a list of 11 party members at the concluding meeting of a five-day party congress.

Brandt said he was giving only a partial list. Chancellor Ludwig Erhard's Cabinet consists of 20 members.

Brandt lost the 1961 general election to then Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who retired in 1963. In the past three years the Socialists have made big gains.

19 Lost, 24 Saved in Norse Tanker Sinking

Shalom had sailed from New York at 11:15 the night before, after a round of gay farewell parties on what was to have been a leisurely 10-day cruise to the West Indies.

Aboard the sparkling white ship were 1,078 persons. They included crew members and a host of entertainers. No one suffered an injury of any consequence, it was reported.

The tanker, whose home port is Oslo, was inbound for Newark, N.J., on a voyage from Philadelphia. Her tanks were 80 per cent filled with a cargo of vegetable oil.

As the two plowed through the foggy murk on what was to be a collision course, neither apparently had any impending sense of danger even though both were equipped with radar.

specify casualties among the rioters but they were believed to be at least 30 or 40.

Communist terrorists continued at work in Saigon today. A grenade exploded in the yard of a U.S. aid mission's guest house. No one was hurt. The house is a block from the residence of Deputy U.S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson.

The Soviet Union meanwhile stepped in with a warning against any U.S. plans to carry the war to North Viet Nam.

Ready to Help Hanoi

In an "authorized" statement published by the Soviet news agency Tass, Moscow said it was ready to provide the Hanoi regime with "necessary assistance" in the event of U.S. armed attacks.

The Tass statement cited speculative Western reports that U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor's talks in Washington might bring a decision to extend the Viet Nam war into North Viet Nam.

"Those who hatch adventurist plans for Indochina must realize that the Soviet Union will not remain indifferent to the destiny of a fraternal Socialist country and is prepared to give it the necessary assistance," Tass said.

The Soviet promise of assistance gave no suggestion of what form its aid might take.

North Viet Nam accused U.S. and South Vietnamese warships of bombarding the North Vietnamese island of Con Co, off the northern portion of the demilitarized zone, on Wednesday.

Communist guerrillas supported by mortar fire from Cambodia ambushed a government unit in Kien Phong Province Thursday but were driven back across the border after a 15-minute fight, the defense ministry announced.

Four government troops were killed, the ministry said.

An hour later government units operating north of Nong Ngu came under fire from Cambodia but suffered no casualties, the ministry said.

In Phnom Penh, the Cambodian government announced it would begin talks with the United States Dec. 7 in New Delhi.

Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodian chief of state, said the U.S. government specified that it would not examine problems concerning the South Vietnamese government.

atroopiers might drop at Bunia, on the eastern frontier, or Watsa, to the northeast, to save whites there from massacre at the hands of the rebels.

Violent protests against the Western powers continued in Communist and African capitals. In Cairo, hundreds of African students burned the U.S. Information Agency's John F. Kennedy Memorial Library and a Marine barracks in the U.S. Embassy compound. No one was hurt.

The U.S. and Belgian embassies were stoned in Nairobi, Kenya, and the U.S., British and Belgian embassies were attacked in Prague.

There was speculation that the rebels would take the offensive again when the Belgian paratroopers were withdrawn this weekend. Premier Moise Tshombe's white mercenaries and supporting Congolese army troops did not appear to have sufficient strength to consolidate the rapid gains they have made across a vast area of the northern Congo.

South of Stanleyville, rebels recaptured the tin mining town of Punia, taken last week by the government troops on their march toward Stanleyville.

better now," the sheriff quoted Thorburn as saying after signing the statement.

Thorburn stated he had a "hassle" with Loomis, and "I pushed him away and shot him in the head and he fell over dead," the sheriff related.

"Thorburn said Loomis had less than $100 on him," Murphy added.

After the Loomis car broke down in Tennessee, Thorburn's statement continued, he rented a car and drove to California by a northern route using Loomis' credit cards all the way.

He started back east Sunday, Thorburn said.

Three Missouri highway patrolmen stopped Thorburn about 10 miles east of Lebanon. The officers said Thorburn had a .38 caliber pistol.

near a doorway to the single bedroom where Cayo slept. From the position of the body, it appeared Cayo may have leaped from his bed when he saw the flames and found the doorway blocked. He may have been trying to escape from the bedroom window when smoke or flames overcame him.

Fire Chief Roland Kuehn said the house was similar in construction and age to another house which erupted in flames last fall when an oil heater exploded. That house was only a few blocks from the Cayo home and the occupant escaped without injury. It was destroyed in minutes.

Cayo's body was removed from the house after Calumet County Coroner Leroy Hughes arrived at the scene. The body was taken to Bretschneider Funeral Home where arrangements are pending.

Cayo served six years in the Army, is married and has one

$250,000 Damage

Damage to the library, considered one of the two best foreign language libraries in Cairo, was estimated at $250,000.

Cairo newspapers said all the demonstrators were Congolese. Cairo is a haven for leftist opponents of the central Congolese government.

The Cairo incident was the most serious demonstration against the United States in a wave of hostile sentiment following the Congo airborne operation in which U.S. aircraft were used to carry the Belgian paratroopers.

Battle called the mob attack a "dastardly deed" that was "irresponsible and unjustified."

About 40 Arrested

There was no official comment from the Egyptian government. Police arrested about 40 demonstrators but it was not known today if they were still detained.

At the Marine barracks, the demonstrators set bedding and furniture afire and hurled gasoline torches and flower pots.

"They came swarming in from everywhere," said the only Marine in the building. "I tried to block the door and they popped in the windows."

Nuclear Fallout Hit Peak During '63, Report Says

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Radioactive fallout in 1963 from nuclear explosions exceeded that of any previous year, the U.N. Scientific Committee on Atomic Radiation said today.

The committee's 1964 report said long-lived fallout in 1962 was three times that of 1960-61. With the ending of atmospheric and underwater testing in December 1963, descending fallout for 1964 was expected to drop to two-thirds of that in 1963, the report said.

Short-lived fission products decayed to negligible levels during 1963 so no further dose will come from the stratosphere after 1964, the report added.

A scientific source close to the committee said the committee had reached no conclusions concerning underground testing.

$2,192,000 Earmarked For Fox Valley Highways

State Commission Lists '65 Projects for Outagamie, Winnebago, Calumet, Waupaca

The State Highway Commission plans to spend $2,192,000 on 33.46 miles of roads in the four-county Fox Valley area in 1965. This includes $650,000 for 11.4 miles in Outagamie County; $286,000 for 10.5 miles in Winnebago County; $626,000 for 6.26 miles in Calumet County; and $630,000 for 5.2 miles in Waupaca County.

Most costly project proposed for Outagamie County is grading, base and bituminous plant mix for 3.5 miles of State 47 and right-of-way will cost between U. S. 41 and Black Creek at a cost of $312,000.

Other projects include $98,000 worth of bituminous plant mix for 6.9 miles of State 55 from Kaukauna to Freedom; $120,000 for grading, base and bituminous plant mix on one-half mile of Main Street in Black Creek; and bituminous plant mix for one-half mile of Seymour Street in Appleton.

Engineering and right-of-way costs for Outagamie County were set at $36,000.

Winnebago County Major project in Winnebago County is bituminous plant mix for 5.6 miles of U. S. 41 from Brooks Corners near Oshkosh to Neenah, at a cost of $151,000.

Some 1.3 miles of State 114 from Waverly Beach to Menasha will receive bituminous plant mix at a cost of $35,000.

State 114 also will be paved with bituminous plant mix along Plank Road in Menasha for 7 of a mile for $55,000. State 116 also will be paved from Winnebago to State 110 for 2.9 miles at a cost of $41,000.

Winnebago County engineering and right-of-way costs are $4,000.

Calumet County All of Calumet County's allocation is devoted to one project—6.36 miles of U. S. 10-State 114 between Appleton and Sherwood, at a cost of $626,000. This includes $512,000 for grading, base and bituminous plant mix, and $114,000 for engineering and right-of-way.

The allotment for Waupaca County also is for one project, the U. S. 10 Waupaca Beltline. This includes structures, grading and base over 5.2 miles at a cost of $155,000. Engineering and right-of-way will cost $115,000.

Fox Valley highway improvements proposed for 1965 were part of $107 million worth of work in 67 counties announced last week by Gov. John W. Reynolds.

Jan. 11 Target Date For Opening AVS School Credit Plan

Plan Public Meeting to Give Details; 78 Persons Make Inquiry

A target date of Jan. 11 has for prospective students' been set for starting the new adult high school credit program to be offered by the Appleton Vocational and Adult School in cooperation with Appleton High School.

A public meeting is planned for 7:30 p.m. Monday in Morgan School to explain the program to interested persons. Cards about the meeting have been sent to 78 persons who have expressed interest. The meeting also is open to any other interested area residents.

Questionnaires will be filled out by persons attending the meeting. On the basis of these and individual interviews, plans for specific courses and necessary teachers will be made.

Vocational school and high school officials have worked out details for administration of the cooperative program, and prepared an informational booklet.

Booklets Available

Booklets and other materials on the program have been distributed to other Fox Cities vocational school directors. Other Fox Cities high schools may participate in the program, if they wish, under similar conditions to the cooperative agreement with the Appleton public schools, said AVS Director Carl Bertram. With more students, a greater variety and frequency of courses would be possible, he noted.

(The Kimberly Board of Education approved the program Monday evening.)

Present plans call for starting classes in the new program the week of Jan. 11. For one unit of credit, a class in the evening program will meet two hours per night twice a week for a minimum of 20 weeks, and students are told more than the usual amount of homework will be required. With classes starting in January, it will be possible for a student to complete one or two credits by June.

Required courses for a diploma include three units of English, two of science, and one each of social studies, U. S. history and mathematics. Eight units of elective credit may be earned in the AVS program, in English, social studies, science, mathematics, home arts, industrial arts, business education, arts and crafts and modern foreign language courses.

A minimum of 12 students will be necessary to start a class. There will be no tuition for Appleton residents, and tuition of 50 cents per night for non-residents. All students must pay a $3 registration fee per course and the necessary textbook and course outline costs.

In elective areas students may take 10-week courses meeting once a week in the regular AVS adult program, and work in a related course, in order to earn not less than a half-unit of credit.

Charge Hunter With Negligent Use of Firearms

Alvin Towne, 23, Waupaca, Will be Tried for Homicide

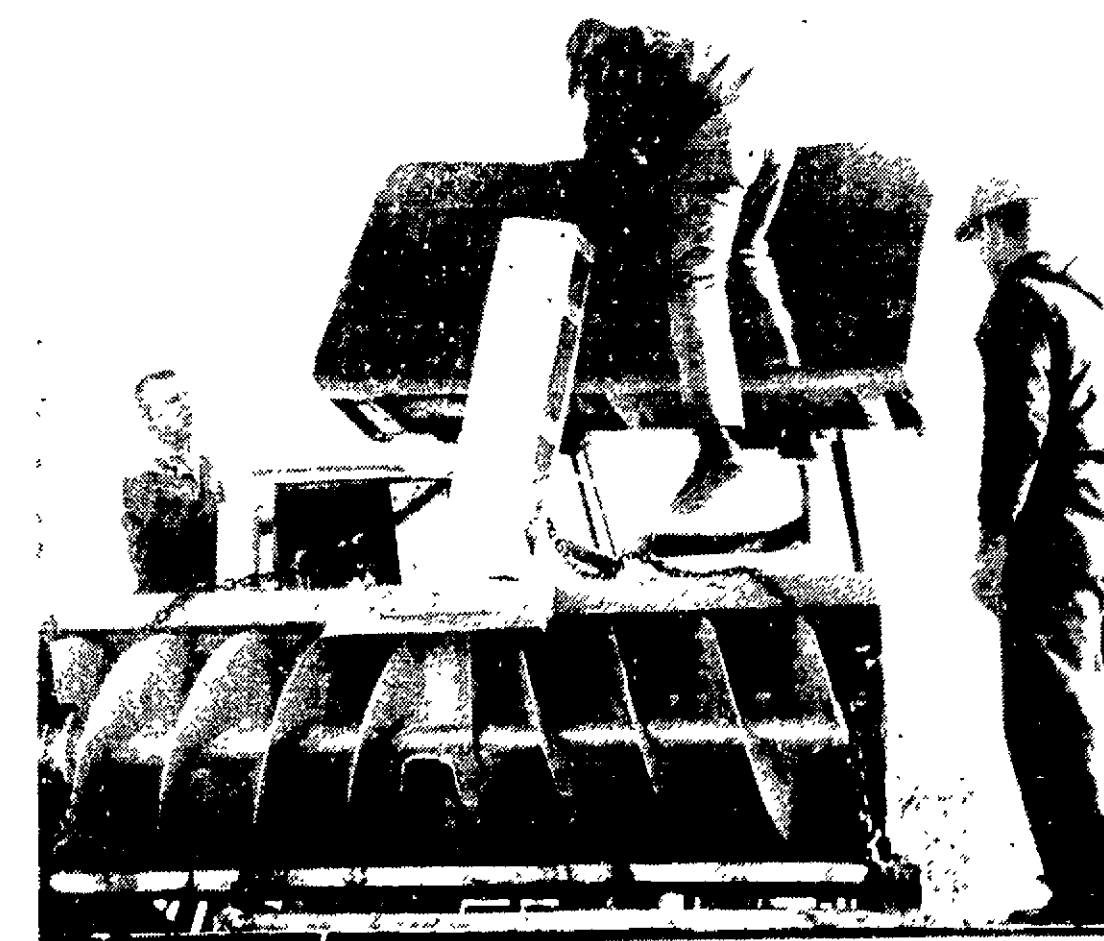

WAUPACA — A charge of homicide by negligent use of a firearm was issued Tuesday against Alvin R. Towne, 23, 115 1/2 High St., Waupaca. Towne is a deer hunter who allegedly fired a shot which killed 16-year-old Richard Johnson on the opening day of this year's deer hunting season.

Towne and Johnson were hunting with three other men in a wooded area north of Waupaca when the fatal shot was fired. Johnson was struck in the head and died instantly.

The hunters told authorities they were standing within a few feet of each other when a deer was spotted crossing a nearby clearing. Towne and two other members of the party shot at the deer. In this volley of shots, Johnson was hit. Authorities said

Views Accident Scene The warrant for Towne's arrest was issued after Dist. Atty. Gerald Anderson viewed the accident scene Tuesday. Towne did not appear in Municipal Court Wednesday, but was represented by his attorney, Richard E. Peterson, who entered a plea of innocent.

Justice George Whalen bound the case over to Waupaca County Court for trial and set bond at $1,000 which was posted in Towne's behalf.

A New Snow Removal attachment arrived in New London none too soon. It arrived just before the first snow. The new machine will be leased until the first of the year, when it will be purchased out of funds set aside in the new budget. The machine will load the snow into city trucks. (Post-Crescent Photo)

2 Drivers in Road Deaths Not Negligent

District Attorney in Waupaca Asks That No Charges be Filed

WAUPACA — Motorists involved in two fatal Waupaca County accidents last weekend were found not to be negligent Wednesday by Dist. Atty. Richard Anderson.

Anderson asked that Ruben W. Thorn, 30, Scandinavia, be absolved of any charges in the death of Oscar Erickson, 76, also of Scandinavia. Anderson said the accident was unavoidable because Erickson was dressed in dark clothing and walking on the wrong side of the road at night when he was struck by Thorn's car. The accident occurred at 5:55 p.m. Sunday on State 49 on Scandinavia's outskirts.

Business Class Tours Industry

Students View Office Practices, Machines At Brillion Firm

BRILLION—The high school's advanced business education class toured the Brillion Iron Works offices this week. Company representatives, Donald Best, Douglas Rulsh, Win Ruemer and Hugo Zutz Jr. described the functions of various departments which involve clerical work. Discussions centered around what business experts of their office employees and what the high schools can do to train students in necessary English, grammar and the secretarial skills.

The group observed office practices taking place and viewed office equipment which is not available to them at school. Of special interest was the tour through the IBM department.

Training Meets Set for Calumet 4-H Club Leaders

CHILTON — Calumet County Junior 4-H leaders have set up 20 training meetings for the coming year for project reports and evaluation sessions and suggestions.

Charles Nikolai, county 4-H agent, said this week the meetings will include 12 regular club meetings and several special short classes with project members.

After this year junior leaders will be well prepared in running committee meetings, teaching projects, public speaking and working with people, he predicted.

A Christmas vacation dance will be held at Chilton High School from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. Dec. 26.

In addition a junior leader one-act play will be produced under the direction of Linda Bartash, New Holstein. The play will be presented at the county drama contest before entering the district festival, Feb. 18 in Kewaunee County.

Morning Fire Damages Barn Near Waupaca

WAUPACA — A fire, started by a gas heater, damaged a barn owned by George Mumbroe, four miles south of Waupaca on County Trunk E, at 8:28 a.m. today.

The heater in the lower portion of the barn was being used to protect potatoes from freezing. The flames spread to the upper part of the barn before Waupaca firemen arrived. However, firemen were able to control the fire before the barn was extensively damaged.

The exact amount of damage was not immediately known, but the blaze was confined to the basement and rear portion of the barn.

Wisconsin Supreme Court Hears Testimony on Representation, Delays Action Until After Jan. 5

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON—The structure of county government in Wisconsin, which has survived unchanged from frontier times, went on trial today in the Wisconsin Supreme Court, with every indication a basic change is in prospect.

The chambers were crowded and the atmosphere was solemn as the seven members of the state's highest tribunal listened while a battery of lawyers disputed a petition demanding the court throw out the existing pattern of county board organization, and establish a new one fitting the equality guarantees of the state and U. S. constitutions.

The court did not rule immediately. The earliest response is expected to be Jan. 5, and a decision may not come until later than that.

Meanwhile, a strong proposal for a new system of county board districting will be before the newly elected State Legislature which meets in January.

Follow Legislative Lead
Some observers believe the court, following its own precedent in the earlier reapportionment of the legislature, will await the decision of the legislators before imposing its own authority as it did a year ago in its legislative reapportionment decree.

Protest about the inequality in county board representation has been accumulating for years, and reached a climax in a petition brought to the court by two suburban Waukesha County residents challenging the county government of Waukesha County.

That county, like many others, has grown in urban population, with the result that some rural town representatives have a voting power in county government many times that of other village and city residents. Their petition asks the court to create a system of equal

Other counsel told the judges in some Wisconsin counties, fewer than one-fourth of the people have an effective majority power on their county boards and the ratio of inequality ranges up to 66 to 1.

Vote Debasement
"This is a debasement of the citizens' vote," protested James Brody, one of the lawyers for the petitioners.

Other lawyers said the U. S. Supreme Court, which inspired the country-wide reapportionment drive when it ruled invalid some state districting systems, has not yet ruled on the local government issue, but several federal court cases are now pending.

Another attorney told the court the state legislature would not dare set up a system of county government voting that would discriminate on the basis of race, creed or color.

A system that violates the "one man, one vote" principle is equally illegal, he claimed.

'Tidal Wave'
Harold Wollenstein, representing defendant Waukesha County, with the backing of the Wisconsin County Boards Association, declared "we are engulfed in a tidal wave that is sweeping the country." But he said the county is not like the state. The rules about equal districting applying to the legislature do not necessarily apply to a county board, he said.

The county is merely a creature of the legislature, rather than an independent entity resulting from the will of its residents, he said. He described it as an administrative mechanism for the local application of state legislative decisions.

Unlike cities, Wisconsin counties do not have home rule and are permitted to act only under strictly delegated authority of the state, he and others argued.

Ask Delay
Then the Waukesha County counsel asked the court to delay a ruling on the validity of the present system until the legislature can consider the new county reorganization recommendation of its study committee which he said is a serious effort to improve county government "and not merely lip service."

He also said the state court would find useful the expected U. S. court decisions on redistricting of counties resulting from Federal Court cases now being tried around the country. Members of the state court gave no immediate indication of their views on the historic argument, but asked questions in a lively fashion.

School Boards
Chief Justice George Currie asked whether the equal voting idea should also apply in local school board elections. The response was that it depends on whether school boards have legislative powers.

Justice Bruce Beilfuss indicated concern about how the court would apply a new system of county government if it found it had the duty to do so, in view of the wide variations of population, geographic size and other characteristics among Wisconsin counties.

Beam Falls at AAL Construction

A 25-foot beam weighing more than 1,000 pounds fell while being lifted from the top of the Aid Association for Lutherans building, 222 W. College Ave. about 10 a.m. today. No one was injured.

Workmen said the beam was being taken from the 10th floor and was being loaded into a truck. While several stories in the air, the sling on the crane snapped, sending the beam crashing to the ground about six feet from the truck. The beam was being used by masons in a scaffold.

State Audits Treasury at Menominee

Findings Will be Reported to Officials Of New County

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON—An audit report on the accounts of the county treasurer's office of Menominee County will probably be filed with county officials Dec. 7, according to reliable reports here today.

J. J. Keliher, state auditor, confirmed the fact that an audit by his staff has been in progress in the county formed out of the former Menominee Indian reservation, but he said he cannot disclose contents of the report until the document has been filed with the county officers.

Periodical state audits of the new county were required by the state legislature in the act establishing the county after the termination of federal government care and control over the Indian community.

In other local governments of Wisconsin, the state audit department examines accounts only at the request of the local governing board, for a fee.

Bruce Wilber is the county treasurer of Menominee County and treasurer of Town of Menominee, which has the same boundaries as the county.

Chilton Man on Trail Committee

MADISON — F. J. Flanagan, secretary of the Chilton Chamber of Commerce, has been named to a 14-member steering committee of a recently organized Hiawatha Pioneer Trail Council of Wisconsin.

The non-profit group will coordinate promotion of the Wisconsin segment of the Hiawatha Pioneer Trail, a 2,000-mile tourist route, which winds through Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota.

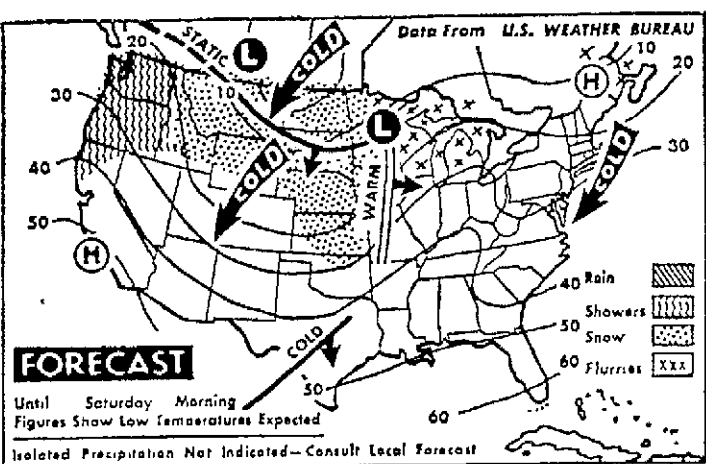

Officers of the organization are Jack Gray, general manager, Wisconsin Dells Area Chamber of Commerce, president; S. Vance Dawson, White-water, president of the Resort Association of Wisconsin, first vice president; Robert Graves, Spring Green, president, Uplands Association, second vice president; James E. Shepeck, director, Visitors Service Bureau of the Green Bay Association of Commerce, treasurer, and Keith A. Hinsman, Madison, public relations counsel for the Wisconsin State Chamber of Commerce, executive director.

Directors will be elected on the basis of geographical representation at a spring meeting.

Senators Consider Censorship of TV

Contribution to Juvenile Delinquency Is Charged

BY G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — A row sparked by senatorial charges that crime and violence on television help lead to juvenile delinquency apparently is coming to a head.

Senators have started talking of possible new laws to force action if the television industry doesn't "clean its own house," as they put it.

The industry, contending the senatorial accusations are exaggerated and in some cases unwarranted, has served notice it will fight any move toward federal censorship of programs.

The combatants are the Senate subcommittee investigating juvenile delinquency and the National Assn. of Broadcasters, representing the bulk of the industry.

Crimes Cited
The subcommittee has cited a number of crimes including killings, extortion, robbery and gang violence by youngsters who allegedly got the idea from television programs.

The subcommittee's chairman, Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., has ordered a massive project to monitor every program aired in the Washington area, to get evidence for subsequent public hearings.

No date has been announced for the hearings, but they are expected to get under way well before spring.

NAB's Code Review Board, an organization of nine broadcasters administering its Code of Fair Practices, has scheduled meetings here Dec. 9-10. The subcommittee's Oct. 27 report to the Senate contended that television programs excessively featuring crime, violence and brutality are a proved factor in juvenile delinquency although not the only one.

Patience of Congress
"The patience of Congress, though considerable, is not endless," the report said in warning.

Howard H. Bell, NAB code director, told a reporter by telephone from New York City the subcommittee report made a number of unwarranted allegations, including one that many broadcasters seem to violate the code with impunity.

The subcommittee praised the code's content but said it was poorly enforced and that many violators continued to display the NAB "seal of fair practice" in advertising which supposedly attests compliance with the code.

Bill denied that enforcement of the code is lax. He said many radio and television stations have lost their right to display the seal, and that the industry is taking steps to sharpen the sting.

New Policy

He said these steps include a new policy of publishing the names of stations which lose the seal, plus an educational campaign designed to win public support for compliance with the code.

Bell said the industry does not claim it is perfect, but that it can and does police itself effectively, strives to improve its standards, and will resist any government regulation of the content of its programs.

He said any such legislation would violate constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech and of the press.

In a letter to Dodd dated Nov. 6, Bell and Vincent T. Wasilewski, NAB executive vice president, said "We are continually seeking ways to make our voluntary code efforts more effective, but we reject the use of legislative fiat to achieve this end. This would be government control of program content and it would be repugnant to the Constitution's First Amendment."

Friday, November 27, 1964 Appleton Post-Crescent A3

Subcommittee Studies

Behind the controversy are a series of subcommittee studies of television programs since the mid-1950s, culminating in its most critical report in October which said little significant improvement could be observed in the volume of excessive crime and violence in shows.

To prepare for the next round of hearings, subcommittee aides working in relays are being assigned to monitor every television program broadcast in this area, over some stated early winter period. They will make notes on any which seem to violate the code's edicts against unnecessary featuring of crime, violence, brutality, horror and sex.

Bell predicted the monitoring would show the industry is doing a good job of improving the quality of programs.

Sincere Effort

Bell said NAB is making a "sincere and responsible effort — a meaningful effort — to find out the facts in an objective manner" as to whether television really has been a significant

Woman Injured When Hit by Automobile at New London Crossing

NEW LONDON — Mrs. John Stein, 46, 504 Lawrence St., was slain in good condition in New London Community Hospital today where she is being treated for injuries she suffered when she was struck by a car driven by Audrey Claassen, 38, route 3, New London.

The driver told authorities she did not see the pedestrian. Mrs. Stein received a broken hip, concussion and bruises.

Another factor in delinquency, the industry's long-term project is being handled by an organization known as the Joint Committee for Research on Television and Children. Gerhardt Wiebe, dean of the Boston University School of Public Communications, heads that committee.

Bell said the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the Foundation for Character Development, NAB and the major television networks all are represented on the joint committee.

Flames Level House Near New Holstein

NEW HOLSTEIN — A one-and-a-half story farm home two miles north of here was leveled and all the contents destroyed in a blaze of undetermined origin early today.

No one was home when the fire broke out in the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reese Jr., route 2, New Holstein. They discovered the blaze when they returned home at 2:45 a.m.

Town of New Holstein Fire Chief Robert Thome said the house, which was owned by John Berchem, route 2, was completely enveloped in flames when his department arrived at 3 a.m. All they could do was save nearby farm buildings, he said.

Firemen remained at the fire scene until 7 a.m. No estimate of damages was given.

Edward Fredricks Dies; Was Former Head of Outagamie Home

NEW LONDON — Edward Fredricks, 57, former superintendent of the Outagamie County Home here died Tuesday at the Wood Veterans Hospital.

Fredricks was superintendent of the home for the aged from the time it was opened in 1950 until 1960. While in New London, Fredricks was an active member of the Lions Club and several other organizations. After resigning his New London post, Fredricks was superintendent of a home for the aged at Manitowoc.

Chamber Music Series Scheduled At St. Norbert's

Sudan Grass, Corn Are Good Drought Crops

Won't Replace Corn, Legumes, Dealers Told at New London

NEW LONDON—Sudan grass and sorghum are good emergency crops in case of drought but they won't replace corn or other legumes, Dr. James Crowley, University of Wisconsin dairyman, told Waupaca and Outagamie County feed and seed dealers here.

Crowley said research showed most any feed could be used by a cow and the major factors in determining crops are climatic conditions, soil and the crop raised most economically.

Previously sorghum was thought of as a southern crop, Crowley said, but development of hybrids has made the crop possible for most areas.

Dependent on Corn
The forage type is the more common variety here because of the dependence on corn, Crowley said.

In order to maintain vitamin A, the crop must be cut while green. The most common problem encountered is cutting sorghum for silage while it is too wet. Crowley said a mixture of sorghum and corn that is dry often makes a much more palatable mixture.

The problem encountered in sudan grass is that of prussic acid, Crowley said. In large doses it can be fatal but taken in small quantities of food, prussic acid will not hurt the animal, he said. Cutting at the right time eliminates most of the danger.

Holds Moisture
Piper sudan grass has the lowest acid content, he said.

The problem is getting moisture down to reduce run-off in the silo. Its ability to store moisture is the reason Sudan grass makes a good emergency crop in time of drought, Crowley said.

The best time to cut sudan grass is when it is about 24 inches high. The worst time is when the plant is a young shoot.

Frank Schneider, Right, owner of the newly created duck shooting preserve near High Cliff State Park, conducted a tour through his operation for members of Calumet County Conservation improvement agencies. Participating in the county-wide tour were representatives of the ASCS, SCS, Calumet County Board, Wisconsin Conservation Department, county extension service and the Farm Home Administration. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Dairy Ration

Nutrients Hold Key

NEW LONDON—No one feed is essential to a dairy cow, Dr. James Crowley, University of Wisconsin extension dairyman, told 30 feed, seed and fertilizer dealers from Outagamie and Waupaca Counties. It is the nutrients the cow gets out of the feed that is important, he said.

Crowley said 45 per cent of the grain ration in Wisconsin is corn, while in California practically no corn is fed. Kansas feeds about 25 per cent grain sorghum and in Wisconsin, Sorghum is minimized. Crowley said the farmer can substitute almost any feed for what he is presently using and get the same results if the total digestible nutrient (TDN) remains the same.

No Stomach Room
Energy is the factor most often limiting production of a dairy herd, he said. To insure the proper energy, enough TDN must be provided for the cow. Crowley said in 1900 a cow produced 4,000 pounds of milk a year. Today the DHIA average is 12,000 pounds annually. The problem is that the cow in 1900 had no trouble with room in its stomach while today the cow does because it hasn't tripled in size. Crowley said the answer was to increase the quality of feed so the cow can receive the energy it requires with a minimum of bulk.

This raises another problem, Crowley stated, on how to increase the amount the cow eats but decrease the nutrients passed off as waste.

The only answer, Crowley said, is to use a lot of high TDN feed. Feed is about 67 per cent digestible. Improve the quality of feed, Crowley advised, particularly through the roughage.

Feed Offener
Mature crops are low in TDN, Crowley said. Corn silage is about 65 per cent TDN and sorghum from 60 to 65 per cent TDN. One way to increase TDN intake is feed offener.

Moisture is a problem in silage, Crowley said. Dorn should have between 50 and 70 per cent moisture content for silage cutting, he said.

How much a cow eats is more important than chemical analysis of feed because there is a

Helpful Hands 4-H Plans Party Dec. 3

GREENVILLE—A Christmas party and pot luck lunch for the Helpful Hands 4-H Club will be Dec. 3. Parents are invited.

Members voted to buy gifts for residents of the Golden Age Home at the November meeting at the Pleasant Corners School. Record books and fair checks were distributed.

Committee for the party includes Dan Hechel, Darlene Ulmer, Jack Schroeder, Kary Schlimm and Jerome Ehm.

Fox Valley Farm Manager Group To Meet Monday

The Fox Valley Farm Management Association will hold its annual meeting at 10:30 a.m. Monday at South Greenville Grange Hall.

In addition to the business meeting, there will be a discussion on Social Security, use of credit, and computer record keeping. A noon dinner will be served.

The computer program has been featured by 13 county farm management agents in Northeastern Wisconsin including the Fox Valley.

It started on an experimental education level two years ago and this year has been opened to the entire state. After a couple of years in the education program farmers may join the association and further develop their plans.

Only 30 counties in the state offer the services of a farm management agent.

Agricultural Leaders to Give Talks

Two outstanding state agricultural leaders and the president of the National Apple Institute will be featured speakers during the annual convention of three Wisconsin organizations which opens here Wednesday.

Dr. Glen Pound, dean of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, will discuss "World Problems of Man and Food" at the Thursday evening banquet.

D. N. McDowell, director of the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, will deliver the keynote address at 10:30 a.m. Thursday.

Delmar Robinson, of the Apple Institute, Winchester, Va., will have the topic "Working Together" at the Friday noon luncheon at the Conway Hotel. The hotel will be convention headquarters.

Opens Wednesday
The parley opens Wednesday afternoon with the State Strawberry Growers Association meeting directed by President Stuart Peterson. The annual business meeting is scheduled for 3:30 p.m.

Prof. G. C. Klingbeil, University of Wisconsin, will discuss "Handling Strawberries from the Nurseryman to the Producer". Prof. Chet Zitch, University of Illinois, will talk of "Strawberry Production and Culture in Illinois".

"New Strawberry Varieties" will be presented by Prof. F. A. Gilbert, University of Wisconsin. Abe Epstein, State Department of Agriculture, will present a progress report on "Virus Free Strawberries".

Group Session
Walter H. Clemens, president of the Wisconsin Horticulture Society, will open that group's session Thursday with George W. Premo, Wisconsin Appleton Institute president.

Ag Industries Conference Is Planned at UW

The University of Wisconsin College of Agriculture will be the setting of Wisconsin Agricultural Industries Conference and a Public Affairs Forum, Jan. 25-30.

The industries conference and public affairs forum will replace the Farm and Home Week of former years.

Sessions on technical change in agriculture will be held for farm families, suppliers, processors, organizations, citizen groups, and public agencies. The College will work through agriculturally oriented groups. Planning to hold technical meetings this year are associations of floriculturists, dairy plant manufacturers and fieldmen, muck farmers and vegetable growers, poultry improvement, resort owners, garden center owners and Farm Short Course alumni. A number of other associations plan programs and more will join the conference a year from now.

Corn Loan Forms Mailed

Corn loan applications are being mailed to all feed grain participants this week, according to Joseph Rickert, office manager of the Outagamie Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

A brief explanation of the loan program is enclosed with the application. New simplified procedure has made the loan program popular in 1964. No moisture test is taken and no measurement of the crib is required to obtain a loan.

Corn can be redeemed anytime in any amounts immediately after obtaining the loan. Interest will not be computed on corn bought back in less than $100 amounts, Rickert said.

Corn loans are available through May 1965. Many applications received to date have helped producers pay up some outstanding bills from the summer, he said.

Brillion FFA Members Buy Beef Cattle for Projects

BRILLION — Thirteen high school FFA Chapter members have purchased 15 Hereford and manage the animals for approximately one year and then show the cattle at next year's Calumet County Fair and the Northeastern Junior Livestock Show held annually at DePere. At the close of the Livestock Show these animals will be sold to complete the projects.

Accurate records of expenses involved in producing the beef will be kept to determine the amount of profit realized from each animal. The profit will be reinvested to increase each student's net worth.

By careful reinvestment and management of the productive enterprises, boys could have enough capital to give him a good start in farming or a college education.

William Urban, vocational agriculture instructor at the high school, and Ervin Stebane assisted the members in selecting their cattle. Stebane trucked the

Definite Trend

Urban Areas Gain Membership In Waupaca County 4-H Activities

WAUPACA — Waupaca County 4-H Clubs are following the trend of the times and moving to cities and villages. The average club now has 26.2 members which is a substantial increase over several years ago.

With the shift in club locations to the more populated areas the clubs are also increasing in size. Philip Jeske, County 4-H Club agent, said recently that due to the decreasing farm population last year, four clubs were discontinued but three new clubs were organized.

Although the number of clubs in the county dropped from 41 to 40 the membership has risen 17 per cent over the past year in 4-H club work outnumbers and there are now 1,048 4-H club members in the county. This is an increase of 152 members over 1963.

A more concentrated population also has reflected in the size of the clubs. The average club now has 26.2 members which is a substantial increase over several years ago.

Future leadership of the county's 4-H clubs is bright, Jeske said, because there are now 104 in junior leaders.

To encourage participation in the club leadership, four adult leaders were recently sent to Washington, D.C., for a leadership forum. Four others visited the capital for a citizenship short course. The trips were financed by the Adult Leaders Association.

Fair Participation Up
Participation by 4-H club members at the county fair has also shown a marked increase, Jeske said. This year there were 7,464 4-H club exhibits at the fair, an increase of 566 over the previous year. For these exhibits members collected $8,098 in premium money.

Waupaca County also was well represented at the State Fair this year where 23 herd of dairy cattle were entered in competition. One-half of the animals entered received top places, either a blue or red ribbon.

Agricultural Leaders Will Talk At State Apple Growers Parley

UW extension entomologist, on "Mouse Control Trials" at 10:15 a.m. Thursday will precede McDowell's address.

After Dr. McDowell's remarks, Prof. Frank Owen, extension horticulturist at the University of Illinois, will discuss priming and culture of semi-dwarf and spur type trees in Illinois.

Appleton: Mayor Clarence Mitchell will open the afternoon session by extending the official welcome from the city. He has proclaimed the period "Apple Town Week". Members of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce are planning retail promotions. The banks will distribute a ton of apples to patrons during the convention. Elroy Honadel is chairman for the day.

The annual meeting will feature an apple show. Ten classes will be judged by horticultural agents Dr. Cliff Ehlers, Door County, and Prof. Lee Smith, Kenosha County. Ribbons and cash prizes will be awarded and the grand champion of the show will receive the golden apple trophy.

Dr. Max Brunk, Cornell University marketing specialist, will discuss grower responsibility and opportunity in apple marketing. Harry Marks, in charge of produce merchandising for the Kroger Co., will talk on "Consumer Merchandising of Wisconsin Apples."

"Consumer Marketing Hints" will be presented by Prof. Charlotte Dunn, extension food and nutrition specialist, University of Wisconsin.

The award banquet will be held at the Conway Hotel at 6:30 p.m. Arthur Kurtz, Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, will be toastmaster. Dr. Pound will be featured speaker.

Recognition Awards

Presentations will include honorary recognition awards, grand champion trophy, merchandising awards, and state winner of the apple pie contest.

Mrs. Walter Clemens, president of the Ladies Auxiliary, will be chairman for the women's sessions Thursday.

Mrs. Lelov Meyer will give an illustrated lecture on her People to People trip to Russia.

demonstrations will start at 2 p.m. at the Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co.

Desserts prepared by members of the Auxiliary will be served at 4 p.m. The annual banquet will be at 6:30 p.m. Desserts must accompany recipes entered in the contest.

Apple Research

Don Rawlins, vice president of the Wisconsin Apple Institute, will be chairman for Friday's events. The session will open at 9 a.m. with a report on Apple research by Dr. Joe Von Elbe, dairy and foods department for the University of Wisconsin College of Agriculture.

Marlon Schwier, marketing division of the State Department of Agriculture, will report on market news. Willard Reese, former dairy operator at Seymour, will discuss 1964 Apple promotion activities. Reese is associated with the State Department's marketing division.

Prof. Klingbeil will discuss "The Future As I See It."

The annual business meeting and election of officers is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. by the Wisconsin Apple Institute. President is George Premo.

Robinson, of the national institute, will speak at the noon luncheon. The Wisconsin Horticulture Society business meeting will be conducted after lunch by President Walter Clemens.

Hortonville Jersey Herds Classified By Ohio Cattle Club

Two Hortonville herds of registered Jerseys have been classified for breed type by the American Jersey Cattle Club.

Owners are Albert Bruns and Son. The herd has 19 "very good" and seven "good" plus animals giving the herd an average score of 86.1 per cent.

Rolland C. Gillingham's herd had 11 "very good" and seven "good" plus animals giving the herd an average score of 85.2 per cent.

Cattle Grading Talk Scheduled For Appleton

Rules for Proposed Program Will be Studied in December

Appleton will be the setting of one of four hearings to consider the adoption of rules relating to dairy cattle grading scheduled by the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture during December.

The hearing for Fox Valley area counties will be at 1:30 p.m. Dec. 16 at the Outagamie County Bank, 118 S. State St., Appleton.

A petition for consideration of the dairy cattle grading program was submitted by a group of dairy cattle leaders earlier this year. The adoption of the rules is intended to provide official uniform, standards and grade terminology for dairy herd replacements.

Supporters of the program believe it will enhance the saleability and acceptability of Wisconsin dairy cattle outside the state as well as encouraging the production of quality replacements by dairymen.

Grades proposed are supreme, preferred, standard, utility and undergrade. The grading program would be under the supervision of the State Department of Agriculture. A fee for grading services, it is felt, will self finance the program. The standards were developed after a two-year study.

A number of sales have already been conducted in Wisconsin by Dairy Science Extension personnel using the proposed standards.

bigger difference between consumption by cows than analysis in grains. Volatile fatty acids produced in the stomach affect the production of a cow, he said.

Crowley said roughage had to be fed because it aids in forming acetic acid necessary for milk fat production.

Little Butterfat

An example cited was a test herd fed 32 pounds of shell corn and 10 pounds of ground hay per day. This herd produced only .7 per cent butterfat.

The amount of crop yields should be measured in dry matter, Crowley told the feed dealers. Dry matter is the main item to be considered in measuring the amount of feed a cow needs.

It is important that when discussing dry matter the digestible part of the feed be taken into consideration. If the feed has less digestible matter, the amount being fed has to be increased.

Crowley said a farmer must have good cows, use good management and feed good feed. A change in feed causes a cow to drop in efficiency for about 10 days.

The idea is to feed a cow 10 days before freshening the same

More Cows on Test

DHIA Gains Popularity In Winnebago County

The number of dairy cows being tested for milk and butterfat production continues the increase in Winnebago County, according to a report by Keith Finch, fieldman for the county Dairy Herd Improvement Milk Testing Association.

The October DHIA report shows an increase of 134 cows tested over the September report, a total for October of 11,864 cows.

The top milk and butterfat producing herd on test in Winnebago for October, was owned by Everett Lewis, Omro. His 45 Holsteins, both registered and grade cows and with five not milking in the testing period, averaged 1,756 pounds of milk and 62 pounds of butterfat. Lewis had a registered Holstein which topped production of cows reported for October. It gave 2,889 pounds of milk, and 116 pounds of fat.

Although He's Blind, Engineer Is Successful

Bureau of Public Roads Employee Even Uses Slide-Rule

BY ADREN COOPER
WASHINGTON (AP) — In a small office in the Bureau of public roads a big German shepherd watches curiously while its blind master clicks away on a typewriter.
Nearby are a mechanical Braille writer, a tape-recorder and a Braille slide-rule.
There are other aids immediately available for the blind man, James W. Jennings, but perhaps the most valuable tool is one he seldom touches — a bank of electronic computers on another floor in the building.
The computers may become as indispensable to his career as his guide dog, Tara, is to his personal life.

Big Boost
They may provide a big boost for Jennings in his efforts to become a practicing civil engineer. He obtained the academic credentials years ago — he was graduated with honors from Michigan State University — but he has run into considerable difficulty in finding a practical outlet in this field for his trained mind.

Jennings has been working in the bureau's research and development division only a few weeks but he seems sure that he can win a permanent position there. His job consists of preparing what he calls "relatively complicated equations" from raw data gathered in the field so they can be fed into the computers.

The speedy machines are important because they eliminate a great deal of the arithmetical handwork which is time-consuming for any engineer. The detailed calculations constitute a tremendous burden for a blind man.

"I could work out these equations on a Braille slide-rule," he said, "but it would mean hours and hours of drudgery. One problem might require a stack of paper two or three inches high."

Materials, Methods
The research deals with finding the best materials and methods to use in building bridges and highways.

Jennings, 34, a robust six-footer, moves and speaks with an air of confidence.

"I'm about halfway between an engineer and a computer programmer. The most difficult part so far has been learning the computer language. I've studied digital computer analysis but I have no practical experience."

Like other engineer-programmers, Jennings doesn't push any buttons on the machines — this is handled by computer technicians.

Judging from past experience, he should be able to solve the computer language problem. Despite his handicap, he was an honor student in public school in his native Norwalk, Conn.

He is a victim of glaucoma, and it rendered him totally blind at 15. He began studying Braille at 11, and even before that, he said, his sight was severely restricted "for as long as I can remember."

Learned Two Languages

He has mastered Russian and German and for a time taught English to foreigners at the Institute of Modern Languages in Washington, and he participated in a project in translating and abstracting Russian documents. His Braille library includes 60 volumes in German — equal to about 16 conventional books.

Jennings is an accomplished saxophonist. He has played professionally but he said it was "too much of a grind" to pursue as a means of livelihood.

Although the computers can relieve a lot of the drudgery, the basic brainwork is still a full-time job. A "reader" comes in for a few hours each week and Jennings frequently carries home a briefcase full of work.

19 Lost, 24 Saved in Norse Tanker Sinking

Shalom had sailed from New York at 11:15 the night before, after a round of gay farewell parties on what was to have been a leisurely 10-day cruise to the West Indies.

Aboard the sparkling white ship were 1,076 persons. They included crew members and a host of entertainers. No one suffered an injury of any consequence, it was reported.

The tanker, whose home port is Oslo, was inbound for Newark, N.J., on a voyage from Philadelphia. Her tanks were 80 per cent filled with a cargo of vegetable oil.

As the two plowed through the foggy murk on what was to be a collision course, neither apparently had any impending sense of danger even though both were equipped with radar.

specify casualties among the rioters but these were believed to be at least 30 or 40.

Communist terrorists continued at work in Saigon today. A grenade exploded in the yard of a U.S. aid mission's guest house. No one was hurt. The house is a block from the residence of Deputy U.S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson.

The Soviet Union meanwhile stepped in with a warning against any U.S. plans to carry the war to North Viet Nam.

Ready to Help Hanoi

In an "authorized" statement published by the Soviet news agency Tass, Moscow said it was ready to provide the Hanoi regime with "necessary assistance" in the event of U.S. armed attacks.

The Tass statement cited speculative Western reports that U.S. Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor's talks in Washington might bring a decision to extend the Viet Nam war into North Viet Nam.

"Those who hatch adventurist plans for Indochina must realize that the Soviet Union will not remain indifferent to the destiny of a fraternal Socialist country and is prepared to give it the necessary assistance," Tass said.

The Soviet promise of assistance gave no suggestion of what form its aid might take.

North Viet Nam accused U.S. and South Vietnamese warships of bombarding the North Vietnamese island of Con Co, off the northern portion of the demilitarized zone, on Wednesday.

Communist guerrillas supported by mortar fire from Cambodia ambushed a government unit in Kien Phong Province Thursday but were driven back across the border after a 15-minute fight, the defense ministry announced.

Four government troops were killed, the ministry said.

An hour later government units operating north of Nong Ngu came under fire from Cambodia but suffered no casualties, the ministry said.

In Phnom Penh, the Cambodian government announced it would begin talks with the United States Dec. 7 in New Delhi. Prince Norodom Sihanouk, Cambodian chief of state, said the U.S. government specified that it would not examine problems concerning the South Vietnamese government.

Red Snipers Still Active

atropers might drop at Bunia, on the eastern frontier, or Watsa, to the northeast, to save whites there from massacre at the hands of the rebels.

Violent protests against the Western powers continued in Communist and African capitals. In Cairo, hundreds of African students burned the U.S. Information Agency's John F. Kennedy Memorial Library and a Marine barracks in the U.S. Embassy compound. No one was hurt.

The U.S. and Belgian embassies were stoned in Nairobi, Kenya, and the U.S., British and Belgian embassies were attacked in Prague.

There was speculation that the rebels would take the offensive again when the Belgian paratroopers were withdrawn this weekend. Premier Moise Tshombe's white mercenaries and supporting Congolese army troops did not appear to have sufficient strength to consolidate the rapid gains they have made across a vast area of the northern Congo.

South of Stanleyville, rebels recaptured the tin mining town of Punia, taken last week by the government troops on their march toward Stanleyville.

Suddenly the rending crash occurred, with the Shalom's bow slicing into the tanker.

Some of the tanker's crew were flung from their bunks into the icy ocean. They found themselves fighting for life without an instant's notion of what had happened.

Some took to lifeboats while 10 others, including Capt. Kristian Bendorsen, remained with the forward section that included the tanker's bridge.

At 2:23 a.m., the tanker sent an SOS message. Moments later it asked the Shalom to stand by and give aid.

A Coast Guard Alert

The Coast Guard flashed an alert for a possible "major marine disaster." For a time there were fears the liner might be in danger too. Coast Guard ships, planes and helicopters sped for the scene.

Another cruise ship returning from the Caribbean, the 20,000-ton Santa Paula, noted the position and headed for it also.

Aboard the Shalom, passengers still awake were startled by the crunch of the collision. Some couples on the dance floor were thrown off their feet. Others abed were tossed about and one or two sent rolling onto the floor.

The ship's intercom loudspeakers announced that there had been a collision. Passengers were assured that the liner was not in any danger. They were told the ship was standing by to pick up survivors from the tanker.

No Panic On Liner

Passengers said afterward there was no panic, and praised the liner's crew for its conduct. Excitement ran high through the ship. Many passengers slipped coats over night attire to make their way to deck railings for a view of rescue operations. Some women wore mink coats over their pajamas.

Passengers said the dance band began playing again about 4 a.m., the bar was reopened and the ship served free drinks after the first round.

Tons of salt water poured through a huge gash at the liner's bow. The crew quickly sealed off forward compartments by closing watertight doors.

The gash in the Shalom's bow ran about 40 feet along the starboard side. With daylight she limped back to New York, arriving in the afternoon, to deposit passengers at the same pier where they had embarked.

The forward section of the tanker drifted north toward Lower New York Bay. A salvage tug and a Coast Guard cutter stood by.

better now," the sheriff quoted Thorburn as saying after signing the statement.

Thorburn stated he had a "hassle" with Loomis, and "I pushed him away and shot him in the head and he fell over dead," the sheriff related.

"Thorburn said Loomis had less than $100 on him," Murphy added.

After the Loomis car broke down in Tennessee, Thorburn's statement continued, he rented a car and drove to California by a northern route using Loomis' credit cards all the way.

He started back east Sunday, Thorburn said.

Three Missouri highway patrolmen stopped Thorburn about 10 miles east of Lebanon. The officers said Thorburn had a .38 caliber pistol.

$250,000 Damage

Damage to the library, considered one of the two best foreign language libraries in Cairo, was estimated at $250,000.

Cairo newspapers said all the demonstrators were Congolese. Cairo is a haven for leftist opponents of the central Congolese government.

The Cairo incident was the most serious demonstration against the United States in a wave of hostile sentiment following the Congo airborne operation in which U.S. aircraft were used to carry the Belgian paratroopers.

Battle called the mob attack a "dastardly deed" that was "irresponsible and unjustified."

About 40 Arrested

There was no official comment from the Egyptian government. Police arrested about 40 demonstrators but it was not known today if they were still detained.

At the Marine barracks, the demonstrators set bedding and furniture afire and hurled gasoline torches and flower pots. "They came swarming in from everywhere," said the only Marine in the building. "I tried to block the door and they popped in the windows."

Other anti-U.S. demonstrations protesting Western presence in the Congo were staged in such widely scattered cities as Prague, Sofia and Nairobi, Kenya.

Nuclear Fallout Hit Peak During '63, Report Says

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Radioactive fallout in 1963 from nuclear explosions exceeded that of any previous year, the U.N. Scientific Committee on Atomic Radiation said today.

The committee's 1964 report said long-lived fallout in 1962 was three times that of 1960-61. With the ending of atmospheric and underwater testing in December 1963, descending fallout for 1964 was expected to drop to two-thirds of that in 1963, the report said.

Short-lived fission products decayed to negligible levels during 1963 so no further dose will come from the stratosphere after 1964, the report added.

A scientific source close to the committee said the committee had reached no conclusions concerning underground testing.

Unions About To Demand Their Reward

Repeal Sought for 'Right to Work' Section in Law

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Union labor is about to demand a reward for its political support. It paid out millions of dollars during the recent campaign to elect a majority in the forthcoming session of Congress. It now wants the elected members to deliver.

Lawrence

The new demand is that the existing labor law be amended so as to bring about compulsory unionization throughout the United States. With all the talk about equal rights for citizens and "equal opportunity" in employment, it is significant that, within a few weeks after a presidential and congressional election, the labor unions announce as their "number one priority" the repeal of section 14B of the National Labor Relations Act passed by Congress in 1947. Under this provision, a number of states have hitherto adopted laws forbidding any worker from being forced to become a member of a labor organization and being threatened with the loss of his job if he doesn't join.

Labor Groups Significant, too, is the announcement by the labor organizations that they think they now have enough votes in Congress to get repeal of this section of the law. A top spokesman of the AFL-CIO says: "We have done some nose counting and we feel we have a reasonable chance to repeal section 14B in this Congress we know pretty well where we stand on this issue."

act—which permits the states to determine whether or not they will accept compulsory unionization—provides that unless a state takes action, the federal law applies. Under this discretionary provision, at least 20 states have formally declared that the right of a person to decide for himself whether or not he will join any organization or group is an individual liberty that should not be taken away from any citizen. These states have enacted what are often called "right to work" laws. Such statutes have been denounced as anti-union, but the basic principle is just as valid as the doctrines now being preached in respect to equal rights for citizens along ethnic or religious or racial lines.

Originally, under the Wagner Act, many unions required what was called a "closed shop." This meant that no employer could hire anybody who was not a member of the union. This was modified in the Taft-Hartley Act of 1947 to permit the "union shop." This provides that the employer may hire whomever he pleases, but that within 30 or 60 days after the worker has been on the job, the employee must either join the union or be dismissed.

The argument is speciously advanced that the employer does not have to agree to a demand for the "union shop," but the fact remains that, unless he does agree, he will be put out of business through continuous strikes and boycotts. Employees now are trained not to cross picket lines even though their own union may not have any dispute with the employer. The growth of the union monopoly has been so extensive that employers now recognize it is hopeless for them to hold out against any clause in a contract which requires compulsory unionization. The idea that a citizen may maintain his own point of view and join or refuse to join any organizations in which he may believe or not believe has been upheld by the Supreme Court as "freedom of association." But when it comes to labor unions, the court has ruled that agreements between the employer and the union are voluntary. This isn't realistic, but it has enough legal support to permit the system of compulsory unionization to flourish.

Union Shop

The principal argument advanced for the "union shop" is that, since the law establishes the right of the majority of the employees to choose a union to act as bargaining agent in relation to wages and working conditions, all the workers should contribute toward the expense. Many workers have agreed to pay their share of such expenses, but not to become members of a labor organization, and such an arrangement is permitted in what is called an "agency shop."

But even these qualifications and restrictions which have been devised do not overcome the objection that a man, in order to keep a job, must actually become a member of or support an organization in whose principles he does not believe. "Freedom of association" goes by the boards, as does freedom of belief, whenever economic force or governmental power is used to compel a man to join an organization against his will or forfeit his job.

But today Congress is being asked to repeal existing restrictions and bring about a system of nation-wide coercion whereby the individual must join a union in order to keep his job. (Copyright, 1964)

Census Report Shows Cost of Government

State Highway Commission Lists Projects Planned for 1965

Special To The Post-Crescent

A report just released by the U. S. Census Bureau, sheds light on how much is being spent by residents of the Fox Valley for schools, highways, police and other local governmental functions, compared with such spending in other areas. The report, which is the first of its kind since 1957, details revenues, expenditures and amount of debt outstanding for municipal, school and county governments throughout the United States.

Figures are contained in a 616-page study based on data gathered in connection with the 1962 Census of Governments.

They show the cost of local government operations in Outagamie County in the year amounted to $200 for every man, woman and child in the county.

For Winnebago County, cost per capita was $241; Waupaca County, $267, and Calumet, $170. The comparable cost in other parts of the country was $214 per capita, and, in the State of Wisconsin, $268.

In addition to providing for education, roads and police protection, the money went for hospitals, sanitation, fire control, public welfare, libraries, housing, general administration and many other services.

Nationally, the cost of these local level operations amounted to $39.8 billion in the year, compared with $30.2 billion in 1957.

Increased costs were a problem in almost every community, as public payrolls and the price of materials moved upward.

Higher taxes, special fees and miscellaneous charges were imposed in many of them in an effort to meet the rising costs. Most localities, by such means, have been able to meet their current operational needs.

Outagamie County report shows general revenue of $197 per capita in the year as against the $200 per capita expenditures.

Some $128 of this income came from local taxes, charges and fees and the rest from state and Federal payments.

Revenue per capita in Winnebago County was $198, $126 of which came from local sources. Calumet County's revenue per person was $158, with $92 from local sources. In Waupaca County, revenue per capita was $266, of which $135 was from local sources.

To meet their requirements for capital improvements, local governments have been forced to go deeper into debt.

The general debt in Outagamie County is placed at $264 per capita in the report. Local government debt elsewhere in the United States is listed at $259 and, in Wisconsin, at $236.

Debt per capita elsewhere in the Fox Valley was $214 in Winnebago County, $160 in Waupaca County and $70 in Calumet County.

Council Committee to Open Squad Car Bids

KAUKAUNA—Bids on a new squad car will be opened at 6:30 p.m. Monday at a meeting of the public protection and safety committee of the common council.

A board of public works meeting will follow at which time general board matters will be discussed. The regular council meeting will be held at 7 p.m. Tuesday.

IS YOUR HOME READY for the holidays? Now is certainly an appropriate time to get it spotlessly clean for the gala holiday season ahead. Here's a product that will aid the homemaker immeasurably in this task. It's Shur-Clean all-purpose cleaner, manufactured locally, and guaranteed to satisfy. Shur-Clean is a pine-scented, no-rinse dirt solvent that is kind to the hands and does an amazing cleaning job.

Shur-Clean is a perfect cleaner for windows, painted walls, woodwork, floors, linoleum, rugs, upholstery, venetian blinds, porcelain, terrazo, marble, tile and cement.

No job is too large or small for Shur-Clean. Once the homemaker has used it, she finds that she can't be without it. Shur-Clean Co., Menasha, the manufacturer, has numerous letters on file from women who have used it, moved away, and still order it by mail. Shur-Clean is available at the following Twin City locations.

ANNUAL DEALER MEETING. C. A. (Chuck) Shannon, Sherwin-Williams Branch Manager and also the firm's Appleton Area Sales Manager, each year invites his full line dealers to an evening of entertainment and information on new product additions to the Sherwin-Williams best-selling line. For the first time in history, the company is providing its dealers with a new second quality line. This budget-priced line is composed of a Latex Wall Finish, Semi Enamel Floor Finish, Spray Can Enamel and Exterior House Paint. This new line places Sherwin-Williams dealers in a position to sell to that market which cannot pay top prices, but yet want excellent quality in painting supplies.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND

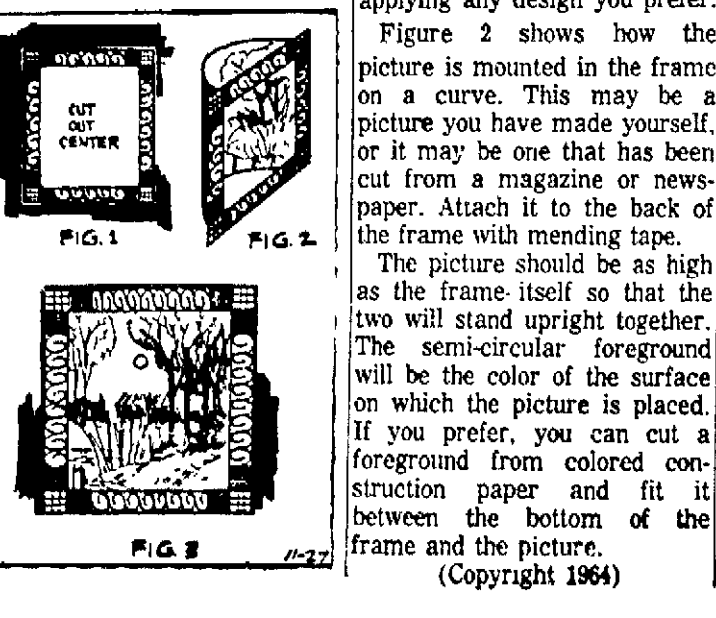

By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

True A Gallup poll finds that almost all of today's women read daily newspapers, especially the world news and women's pages. Nearly 80 per cent regularly read magazines. Half of all women between 18 and 60 years of age read books, average eight books a year. Other popular leisure time activities for American women are sewing and gardening. Eleven per cent average an hour a day bowling—the only active sport reported by any sizeable number of women. Is age the biggest barrier to employment?

Your Money's Worth

Furniture, Appliances Wanted This Christmas

BY SYLVIA PORTER

If you are a typical U.S. housewife, what you want most for Christmas in 1964 are things for your home — furniture, carpets, a refrigerator, dryer, TV set, kitchen appliances. For the first time in this decade, your most-wanted Christmas gift is not something for yourself.

If you are an average U.S. family, you'll buy 30 Christmas gifts this year and you'll buy from six to 16 for each of your children. Despite this indulgence to your young ones, you don't think you're giving too much and you have no plans to cut down.

If you're typical of housewives in the under-$10,000 income bracket and if you were asked, "If you could have anything in the world you wanted this Christmas, what would it be?" your answer most likely would be a new home. But if you're typical of housewives in the over-$10,000 bracket, your answer to this "dream" question most likely would be a trip or a cruise.

Golden Days

We are approaching the 24 golden days between Thanksgiving and Christmas — a period during which we'll spend an awesome $8.5 billion for gifts, according to the annual survey of the Tie-Tie division of Chicago Printed String Co., the nation's largest maker of gift wrappings. This averages out to $170 per family, an all-time record.

Among Tie-Tie's other intriguing findings are:

You're in the majority of housewives if you received one big present last Christmas. In the under-$10,000 group the one big present was probably something for your house. In the over-$10,000 group it was probably jewelry, clothing or plain money.

You're in the majority if you think you're frugal in your Christmas spending. A full 75 per cent of the women surveyed stated they did not spend too much for gifts in 1963.

Tax Cut

You're in the majority if you do not feel that tax cut has given you more money to spend this season. Only 19 per cent said they felt this year's massive tax cut is putting more money in the family purse. (This is a puzzler because, of course, the tax cut has boosted the take-home pay of tens of millions in income brackets from the lowest to the highest. Can it be that the extra money already is taken for granted?)

To me, though, what is most intriguing about this year's

Flying Submarine New Navy Dream

WASHINGTON (AP) — A submarine that can fly is the Navy's newest dream. It has awarded a $36,000 contract for design studies to see if such a combination is feasible.

What the Navy would like to have — in the event of a war with the Soviet Union — is a smallish submarine that could fly to such large inland bodies of water as the Black Sea and Caspian Sea and then plop back into the water to prey on Soviet ships. It would be almost impossible to get a conventional submarine into such seas during a war.

Its development would be "both complex and laborious," says a Navy aircraft engineer, Eugene H. Handler, in an article dealing with the flying sub in the magazine "U.S. Naval Institute Proceedings." Handler called for a careful examination before such an idea is shelved.

Hunter Wounded In Thigh by Bullet

WISCONSIN RAPIDS (AP) — The Rev. David A. Giles, 33, pastor of Madison's Bible Fellowship Church, was shot and wounded Thursday while deer hunting in the Amundsen Marsh area of Wood County.

Struck in the left thigh by a stray bullet, Rev. Giles was taken to Riverview Hospital in Wisconsin Rapids. A hospital spokesman said the wound was not believed serious.

Prison Back to Normal After Prisoner Sit-in

PETROS, Tenn. (AP) — Except for a slight revision in the policy of handling prisoners' mail, nothing has changed much at the Brushy Mountain State Prison as a result of an 18-hour sit-down rebellion by 134 coal-mining inmates.

Harry Avery, state corrections commissioner, after conferring for nearly two hours with the rebels Thanksgiving Day, returned to Nashville. Officials said everything is "back to normal" at the prison and that no disciplinary action will be taken against those who revolted.

The rebels were scheduled to return to the mines today, along with three mine foremen they held hostage during the Wednesday protest demonstration.

Commissioner Avery and Warden John Winsett agreed to permit the prisoners to mail four letters per week instead of only three as in the past. And Winsett said the number of pages of outgoing letters would be increased from two to three. A major complaint of the rebels entered around mail privileges.

The only weapons the rebels had inside their dark mine shaft were dynamite caps and dynamite. The hostages were unharmed.
